

Trade Program Causes Losses To Uncle Sam, Senator Says

Law Is Violation of Constitution, Vandenberg States

6 CONTENTIONS

Asserts System Is 'Economic Dictatorship Come to America'

Washington—(P)—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) told the senate today that the United States was about to "lose its shirt" under the reciprocal trade program.

The Michigan senator, in a speech against continuing the administration's trade policy, made these six contentions:

1. The trade agreement law is unconstitutional.
2. It is "economic dictatorship come to America."
3. It is driving the country to a basis of uncompensated low tariffs "which will ultimately wreck us."
4. War and post-war trade competition involve a multitude of dangerous trade weapons which the agreement law cannot touch.
5. It is not working and cannot work as intended.
6. The alternative is to provide "a concentrated foreign trade authority which can cope with all the external trade penalties which American export increasingly confronts."

Other Obstacles
Vandenberg said that in a world at war, or in the "harsh" competitive conditions of post-war readjustment, tariff rates covered by trade agreements were but a minor factor among trade obstacles.

He said the important and significant trade barriers, which were rarely touched by trade treaties, included exchange restrictions, exchange allotments, bi-lateral agreements, quotas, embargoes, barter, special regulations, formation of "trade areas" and currency blocks and depreciated currencies.

Under the policy of generalizing American duty reductions, he continued, foreigners "get everything" but "we get precious little reciprocal benefits in return."

Since the trade program went into effect, he continued, there had been little change in the number of people employed in export work or service. Such increase as occurred in export trade, he said, "obviously was due to a recovery in world buying power and not to trade treaties."

Charges Illegality
Vandenberg argued that the trade treaty law represented an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power, tariff and taxing power and discretion to the chief executive.

"This transcends any consideration of whether we do or do not get more money out of it," he commented.

Vandenberg criticized particularly the present policy of extending to all nations—except those found discriminating against American goods—the tariff reductions granted by this government under trade agreements.

Through the most favored-nation policy, he said, the program was "driving us to a point where we are basing our entire foreign trade on a basis of uncompensated low tariffs, which will ultimately wreck us as surely as too low tariffs heretofore have always been poison to American wage and living and price standards."

Cites Alternative
The alternative, Vandenberg said, was not to abandon the pursuit of foreign trade and the defense of external commerce, nor to revert to the "rightfully condemned" policy of rolling back general revisions of the tariff.

"The alternative is to seek reciprocity which tangibly reciprocates; to provide a concentrated foreign trade authority which can cope with all the external trade penalties which American export increasingly confronts; to keep our tariffs elastic, through the medium of a ministerial agency which responds to specific congressional criteria, and in constant adjustment to American costs of competitive production."

SUES BURNS FOR FALSE IMPRISONMENT

Film comedian Bob Burns is faced with a $70,000 false imprisonment suit—involving allegations of love theft—brought in Los Angeles by civil engineer Daniel H. Hoge (right). Hoge charged that he was abducted in 1938 and forced to sign a denial that Burns had stolen the affections of his wife, Millie. The district attorney's office, however, asserted the action was without basis. Hoge is shown with his son, Daniel, 16.

Roosevelt Attempting to Determine Exact Relief Needs in Next Fiscal Year

Washington—(P)—President Roosevelt began a study today to determine exactly how much money will be needed for relief in the next fiscal year.

In his original budget, Mr. Roosevelt figured $1,300,000,000 would cover activities of the works projects administration, civilian conservation corps, national youth administration, and farm security administration.

He said at the time the figure represented a large reduction below expenditures for the current year and declared that if the curve of employment did not go up as was hoped, it might be necessary to ask for additional funds.

The chief executive arranged a conference on the relief problem today with John Carmody, federal works administrator; Colonel F. C. Harrington, WPA director; and Harold Smith, budget director.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, said a message would be sent to congress at a later time after possibly several more conferences had been held. Asked whether the president might ask for supplemental relief funds, he said:

Declares Gangs Fighting Probe District Attorney Says 'Slush Fund' Raised To Hire Lawyers

New York—(P)—District Attorney William O'Dwyer today pictured a concerted "rising of the gangs" in Manhattan as well as Brooklyn to combat his investigation of Murder, Inc., an underworld organization blamed for at least 35 killings.

"I have received information that the racketeers and mobsters of the lower east side, in Manhattan, have already raised a sizeable 'slush fund' to hire lawyers and finance bail bonds," the Kings county prosecutor said.

O'Dwyer, a former policeman, indicated his belief that the wealthy Manhattan racket outfits had determined to support their cause through an interlocking system of murder-for-sale tactics.

Meanwhile, the Daily Mirror says Abe "Kid Twist" Reles, 34-year-old alleged "vice president" of Murder, Inc., added to previous voluminous information details of slaying of Max Hassel and Max Greenberg in Elizabeth-Carter hotel, in Elizabeth, N. J., on April 12, 1933.

The newspaper says Reles "explored" the fact that the job of doing the double-slaying slipped through his fingers and went to a rival group whom he described as "the Broadway mob."

His cut-throat competitors, Reles said, killed the two men, identified as "Waxey Gordon" and "Waxey Gordon" Wexler, entertained a chorus girl in another room.

The "Broadway mob," according to Reles' account, intended to "rub out" Wexler, a big-time bootleg and narcotics racketeer, but something went amiss.

War Policies Supported at Canadian Polls

Liberal Party Wins 172 Out of 245 House Seats

MANION IS DEFEATED

Prime Minister and Cabinet Leaders Returned to Office

Ottawa—(P)—A flood of votes, from the maritime provinces to the Pacific, renewed the liberal party majority in the Canadian house of commons today in a public endorsement of Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie's war policies.

Latest returns from yesterday's elections gave 172 of the house's 245 seats to the liberals and six to candidates friendly to them.

The principal opposition, the national government group led by the Conservative Dr. Robert J. Manion, had won 37 seats, lesser rivals 18, and one race remained in doubt.

Another was deferred because of a candidate's death.

Dr. Manion himself was defeated by the liberal Dr. McIvor in his home city of Fort William, Ontario, and a number of his lieutenants also lost.

The prime minister and his cabinet leaders were returned to office.

Former Setup
When Mackenzie King dissolved parliament Jan. 25 and called the election in reply to criticism of his conduct of Canada's part in the war against Germany, the liberals held 169 seats and the conservatives 38.

The new victory, comparable to that in the last election Oct. 14, 1935, retains the liberal government for another five years, unless it chooses to appeal to the public sooner. The senate is not affected, its members being summoned for life by the governor general.

Ontario's premier Mitchell Hepburn did not participate in the campaign, although he was one of the leaders among critics who called the government war effort slow and inefficient.

A vote of censure which Hepburn pushed through the Ontario legislature was one of the reasons Mackenzie King called the election.

"I am still taking the long-range view of the situation," said Hepburn last night.

In nationwide radio addresses last night, Mackenzie King and Dr. Manion both called for a common victory and peace. Wishing success to the liberal administration, Dr. Manion said he had "no complaint" over his defeat.

Sailor Missing After Explosion
Six Persons Injured in Blast Aboard U. S. Destroyer

Newport, R. I.—(P)—One sailor was missing and six others were being treated for injuries today in the wake of a terrific blast which damaged the U. S. Navy destroyer King yesterday at its mooring in Newport harbor.

Captain William S. Farber, commander of the neutrality patrol unit to which the 20-year-old, 1,190-ton vessel was assigned, said the explosion was caused by leaking gas in the after deckhouse, the forward bulkhead of which was demolished.

Several containers of the gas, Captain Farber said, were situated in the deckhouse and one of them leaked. He declined to identify the gas and ventured no opinion as to what ignited the leaking gas.

Richard Carl Oehlert, of Denver, Colo., fireman first class, was reported missing after masters of the crew, and naval sources said he must have been thrown overboard by the force of the blast.

The King, with an overall length of 214 feet, was moored about a half mile off the south end of the city when the blast hit her shortly after 3 p. m. (C. S. T.) with a roar that was heard throughout downtown Newport.

At the Naval hospital, all of the six injured were described today as "doing very well." Their complete recovery was expected.

Britain Hopes To Force Reich Fleet to Battle

Depends on Warplanes to Prevent Spread of U-Boat Attacks

London—(P)—The air ministry announced that a British plane attacked and sank a German patrol vessel during a reconnaissance flight today over the North sea.

London—(P)—British press dispatches from the western front tonight said five German Messerschmitt fighting planes had been shot down in three British-Nazi air battles.

London—(P)—While British warships busied themselves with tightening the blockade against German ore imports in hope of luring the German fleet into open battle, Great Britain counted on the Royal Air Force today for yeoman service against any spread of German submarine raids.

Concentration of British destroyers and submarines in the Skagerrak, off the Danish and Norwegian coasts, was aimed primarily at cutting Germany's ore supplies from Sweden, but neutral observers saw a deeper motive.

They said that if Germany could be goaded to send out a cruiser squadron against these comparatively light forces, the British probably would have some heavy units nearby to fall upon the Germans with superior power.

Sight Destroyers
The Norwegian admiralty announced last night that eight or nine British destroyers were sighted in Norwegian waters on at least two occasions Friday, when German ships were passing the coast, and that a Norwegian torpedo boat fired a warning shot in one instance.

Talk of a possible future engagement at sea came at the same time the admiralty was recalling its success of last December against the Admiral Graf Spee, with a charge that sailors of the German pocket battleship refused to fight after taking refuge in Montevideo harbor.

The admiralty statement said witnesses aboard British merchantmen in Montevideo harbor had seen the crew refuse to take the Admiral Graf Spee out to face British warships even after eight appeals from the German officers.

The Admiral Graf Spee ran into Montevideo Dec. 3 from a fight with three British cruisers, and the admiral suggested that trouble with the crew was a factor in destruction of the leader by its own captain, four days later.

Welles Due to Arrive Thursday
Expected to Make Early Report to President on Fact-Finding Mission

Washington—(P)—The White House said today it was advised that Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, would arrive tomorrow in New York from his "fact-finding" European trip.

President Roosevelt, it was added, will receive Welles here at Welles' convenience.

While the undersecretary is expected to report promptly to the president, the White House said there was no reason to expect him to rush to the capital from New York.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, said Mr. Roosevelt's departure for Warm Springs, Ga., would not occur until after the Welles conference. The president hopes to leave for Warm Springs late this week.

Mr. Roosevelt was almost completely recovered today from the effects of a cold which has troubled him more than two weeks.

Report Russian Ships Carrying U. S. Metals
London—(P)—Reuters (British news agency) reported today that the Soviet steamer Vladimir Mayakovsky, said to be carrying a cargo of metals from the American Pacific coast to Vladivostok, had been detained at HongKong pending examination of her cargo by British authorities.

The Reuters story, without date-line, said the vessel took aboard copper at Manzanillo and molybdenum at San Pedro, Calif. Both metals are used in munitions-making.

In London it was stated that although Hong Kong, British colony on the South China coast, had not been formally established as a contraband control base, a belligerent power had the right under the rules of warfare to bring in captures at sea to any of its ports for examination.

Message to Stalin Basis of Request For Recall

SPLIT IS SEEN

Complete Break in Diplomatic Relations Is Indicated

Moscow—(P)—Soviet Russia announced today that her ambassador to Paris was being recalled at the request of the French government.

The French request, according to the announcement published by Tass, official Russian news agency, was based on an attempt by Jakob Surits, the envoy, to telegraph congratulations to Josef Stalin on the conclusion of the war with Finland as a success against "British-French war-mongers."

The telegram was stopped by the French censor.

Surits had been in Paris since April, 1937. The French ambassador to Moscow, Paul Emile Naggiar, left for home Feb. 3—ostensibly on sick leave.

Paris reports said a complete break in diplomatic relations between Russia and France appeared foreshadowed.

Russian Version
The Tass communique on withdrawal of Surits follows:

"On March 19 the French chargé d'affaires at Moscow, (Jean) Payart, informed the People's Commissar for Foreign Affairs Molotov that the French government regarded a telegram signed by the Soviet Ambassador to Paris, Surits, and delivered to the telegraph for transmission to Stalin at Moscow on the occasion of the conclusion of a peace treaty between the U.S.S.R. and Finland as intervention by the ambassador in the internal political life of France."

"According to Payart's statement, the French government deems incorrect with regard to the French government certain expressions in the telegram signed by the ambassador, underlined in excerpts from the telegram given below, namely:

Quotes Telegram
"Thanks to the wisdom of the Soviet government and to our valiant red army, the plans of the British-French war-mongers who attempted to fan the flames of war in northeastern Europe again failed."

"(The words 'plans of the British-French war-mongers' were underlined.)

"Also:

"The Soviet Union remains an impregnable fortress against which the sinister schemes of the enemies of socialism and of the working people of the whole world will crash..." (The words "sinister schemes of the enemies of socialism" were underlined.)

"Although this telegram was stopped by the censor, the French government declared that Surits would no longer be regarded by the French government as 'persona grata,' and expressed the desire that Surits be recalled by the Soviet government."

Russian Reply
"In this connection, on March 26 the Assistant People's Commissar for Foreign Affairs Lofzoffsky handed Payart the following reply of the Soviet government:

"1. The government of the U.S.S.R. finds no substantial ground for the French government not to regard Soviet Ambassador Surits any longer as 'persona grata' on the strength of the contents of the telegram signed by Surits for transmission to Moscow, in which no mention was even made of the French government."

"2. However, inasmuch as the French government formally raises the question of confidence with regard to Surits, the government of the U.S.S.R. informs it that Surits is being released from his duties as ambassador of the U.S.S.R. to France."

Burglar Forced to Telephone to Police

Clifton, N. J.—(P)—The desk sergeant at a police headquarters rubbed his eyes twice at 3:15 a. m. today when a voice on the other end of the telephone wire said nervously:

"I'm a burglar, and I tried to rob Roy's clam bar. Roy caught me and he's making me call you up. Will you please come and arrest me?"

Police found Roy Dalrymple with a shotgun and his prisoner, identified as Anthony C. Ochab, with hands high in the air. Dalrymple explained that, robbed of $20 a fortnight ago, he had been awaiting the intruder's return. He even had nickels on the counter for the telephone call.

Nearly 30,000 Catholics Welcome New Archbishop On Arrival in Milwaukee

Milwaukee—(P)—Nearly 30,000 Catholic laity and clergy prepared to participate today in ceremonies welcoming Milwaukee's new archbishop-elect, the Most Rev. Moses Elias Kelly, upon his arrival here from his former see at Trenton, N. J.

Bishop Kelly and his predecessor here, the Most Rev. Samuel A. Stritch who recently was elected archbishop of Chicago, were scheduled to arrive at 2:45 p. m. on a special train bearing more than 1,000 honorary escorts, most of them church dignitaries and clergy.

Following the welcome ceremonies, Bishop Kelly will be enthroned archdiocesan head of 450,000 Catholics in 17 Wisconsin counties at a colorful rite in Gesu church Thursday morning.

Bishop Kelly left his Trenton diocese at 4:30 p. m. yesterday on a 10-car special train after waving goodbye to hundreds of parishioners massed in farewell on the station platform.

Accompanying him as an escort were 100 monsignori and priests of the Trenton diocese and 50 from Milwaukee. The latter group was headed by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Bernard O. Traudt, interregnum administrator of the Milwaukee see.

Admits Buying Job With Money Paid by Vice Dens; Police Chief Suspended

Detroit—(P)—Barney J. Nowicki, police chief of suburban Hamtramck, who testified yesterday he could have the job as police chief for $15,000. He was appointed acting chief Feb. 3, 1939.

"Figurski said I was to get $300 a month for the protection of these gambling places," Nowicki testified, "and that he would keep it until the $15,000 was paid."

Police Commissioner Matyniak, who appointed Nowicki, said today he was at a loss to understand why Nowicki had dealt with anybody other than "a job that was his anyway."

The taking of testimony in the preliminary examination was halted by the state supreme court today. The action came on a petition by six defendants who sought to "waive" preliminary examination and avoid the presentation or testimony before formal arraignment.

Woodring Says Policy Assures Modern Aircraft

War Secretary States Program Won't Be Delayed, Secrets Are Guarded

Washington—(AP)—Secretary Woodring testified today that the new policy of permitting export sales of the newest American warplanes was designed to keep the air corps constantly supplied with "the most modern equipment."

Appearing before the house military committee, the war department chief flatly declared that the revised policy would not result in disclosure of military secrets nor in delay of the air corps expansion program.

"When it is to the advantage of the national defense the war department will negotiate for deferred deliveries on contract planes," Woodring testified. "If manufacturers take advantage of foreign orders, then prior to release for sale abroad, manufacturers shall agree to accept change orders on existing war department contracts."

The government must be fully protected and any authorized delays must not interfere with the delivery of equipment for units immediately necessary for our defense needs.

Woodring coupled a stout defense of the army's new foreign sales policy with a denial that the policy had been adopted under coercion and a statement that "as long as I am secretary of war I am not going to be pushed around."

The war department chief told the committee that the revised policy had been worked out by him and his advisers "without coercion or pressure from anybody." His statement followed a question by Representative Andrews (R-N. Y.) as to whether there had been friction between Woodring and a committee authorized recently by President Roosevelt to coordinate foreign plane purchases with domestic needs.

Secretary Morgenthau of the treasury is the liaison between this committee and the White House and there had been reports of possible conflict between the committee's wishes and those of Woodring.

Milwaukee Union in Favor of Third Term

Milwaukee—(AP)—The Milwaukee joint board of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers union of America went on record in a resolution today urging President Roosevelt to allow himself to be drafted for reelection to a third term.

The resolution was signed by A. C. Piepenhagen, business manager of the Milwaukee city board, and by Louis Schultz, national representative of the union and state representative of the Textile Workers union of America.

In a statement Piepenhagen and Schultz criticized the Roosevelt-Farley slate of delegate candidates to the Democratic convention and urged workers to support instead the slate running under the slogan "Roosevelt delegates, state conference endorsed."

country, thereabouts. I hope, for a cordial welcome back there. Yes, I welcome the chance to go back to the Midwest, for my duty calls me there, but I am sad indeed to leave Trenton and its people.

The first stop was in Chicago this morning where the archbishop-designate visited Archbishop Stritch.

Chicago—(AP)—Bishop Moses E. Kelly of Trenton, N. J., enroute to be enthroned as Catholic archbishop of Milwaukee, said mass today in the mission he founded more than twenty years ago to help the human derelicts of the DesPlaines street district.

The Holy Cross mission, next door to the historic DesPlaines street police station, once was a warehouse. It has been converted into a modest but practical office building with a chapel on the ground floor. Bishop Kelly, then a Chicago priest, established it as a refuge for homeless men, but now

Tenure Law Protects Teachers and Boards, Association Claims

Milwaukee—(AP)—The Wisconsin Education association believes the teacher tenure law is "a sincere attempt to better education by protecting good teachers from indiscriminate and groundless dismissals."

"At the same time," the association said in a statement, "the tenure law protects school boards against inefficient teachers."

The tenure law which gives a teacher permanent tenure after a five year probationary period, comes up for an advisory referendum April 2 on the question of repeal. Effect of the referendum is not binding. It is an expression of public opinion to the legislature.

Senator Clark of Missouri Refuses 'Favorite Son' Role

Calls It "a Tinsel Embellishment for an Empty Honor"

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER

Washington—(AP)—The refusal of Senator Clark (D-Mo.) to accept a "favorite son" role at the Democratic national convention raised a question mark today over the eventual stand of the big Missouri delegation.

"A 'favorite son' endorsement without binding instructions is a tinsel embellishment for an empty honor," Clark wrote George K. Williams, former Democratic chairman of St. Francis county, Mo.

"On the other hand, I will never again be a party to tying the hands of Missouri Democrats with a binding instruction for myself or anyone else in what might turn out to be only a 'favorite son' candidacy."

The senator, however, did not take himself out of the presidential picture. He said he favored an uncommitted delegation, adding that if it "should be friendly to me and to my interests, I would deeply appreciate the honor accorded me by Missouri Democrats."

Clark, who has differed with the new deal on several major issues, took no outright position on a third term, but supporters of the two-term tradition found some comfort in his move.

They noted his statement was in reply to a letter from Williams, a friend who had observed that Missouri would name a delegation at its state convention April 15 in support of the Roosevelt administration, but friendly to your interests.

Gov. Lloyd C. Stark, an ardent New Dealer, has favored an uncommitted delegation from Missouri supporting the Roosevelt record.

Clark said that he would be a candidate for delegate-at-large and if selected would also run for delegation chairman. The group has 30 votes.

"If I should be the leader of the delegation," he said, "the Democrats of Missouri may be assured that so far as my influence goes, the Missouri delegation will never be traded off for any office or for any purpose. I would not accept either the vice-presidency or a cabinet office as a gift."

$1,000 Damage in Grade School Fire

Blaze in Little Chute Building Caused by Spontaneous Combustion

Little Chute—Pupils of the Little Chute grade school are getting a prolonged Easter vacation as a result of a $1,000 fire in the basement of the school yesterday morning.

Classes will not be resumed until the building is checked by a state fire inspector.

The blaze was discovered at 7:30 yesterday morning, and firemen extinguished it after an hour's work. Spontaneous combustion in an oil mop was given as the cause of the fire, which spread to the joists in the basement. Firemen prevented the fire from spreading to the first floor.

Schultz Heads Jaces Clean-Up Committee

Parker Schultz will be in charge of the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce annual "paint-up, clean-up" week which will be held May 12 to 18, according to H. L. Davis, Jr., president of the organization. The week is sponsored nationally by the Jun. or Chamber of Commerce.

It houses a variety of Catholic charitable enterprises. Clad in white and gold vestments the towering bishop—he is well above six feet—said mass at the small altar trimmed with red flowers. In the pews were some 35 women employees of the charities in the building, 15 of whom Bishop Kelly hired years ago. A few transients were there and occasionally a policeman dropped in from the station next door. A hundred homeless men waited in the basement to be given breakfast.

At its founding, the mission was manned by Bishop Kelly as its only priest. Now a staff of 80 is employed.

A delegation of Catholic clergies and laymen from Milwaukee and Trenton accompanied the bishop into Chicago from Trenton this morning and will be accompanied by a Chicago delegation when the group moves on to Milwaukee later in the day. In the group was the Most Rev. Edmund Fitzmaurice, bishop of Wilmington, Del.

McNutt Acts to Patch Up His Troubles With Farley

BY W. B. RAGSDALE

Washington—(AP)—A cautious tribute paid by Paul V. McNutt, the ambitious Federal Security Administrator, to James A. Farley, the aspiring postmaster general, signifies that at least one end of a mythical McNutt-Farley, or Farley-McNutt, ticket is willing.

Farley has harbored a slumbering resentment against McNutt ever since the delegate rodeo in Chicago in 1932. McNutt has professed puzzlement over why Farley should still be angry because McNutt didn't deliver the Indiana delegation to Franklin D. Roosevelt at that time. He has said it wasn't his to deliver.

But Farley has muttered into his ice cream when ticket-makers coupled his name with McNutt. And some have said that McNutt was not too eager to see such a combination.

But McNutt, speaking in Baltimore, buried deep in the middle of his speech a brace of sentences which, without mentioning Farley's name, could have referred to no one else. They were:

"He said 'we must never permit the ideals of this republic to sink to a point where every American father and mother, regardless of race, color or creed, cannot look proudly into the cradle of their new-born babe and see a future president of the United States.'"

Pressure for More Action May Force Chamberlain to Form Small Inner Cabinet

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

New York—(AP)—Pressure on the British government for greater initiative in prosecution of the war has reached a point where it would seem that Premier Chamberlain will have to meet the demands half-way or run a risk of losing public confidence.

There are reports in London that the aging but active prime minister will at least comply with the insistence on the creation of a small inner cabinet of four or five ministers who will be charged with the conduct of the war. The present war committee comprises nine—too many, says critics, for top-speed efficiency.

Whether such a move would be followed by "action," in the sense of starting major naval or military offensives, is problematical. Mr. Chamberlain has been working along lines which he has felt were most likely to bring victory in the long run, and once his mind is made up not even the faith that is able to move mountains can budge him.

The premier's latest comment on this point was March 19 in the house of commons when he declared in his meticulous language and with that glacial finality which so often freezes comment:

"When the responsibility rests upon the shoulders of the government we cannot be hurried into adventures which appear to us to present small chance of success, much chance of danger and perhaps disaster."

In considering the premier's viewpoint it is important to note that his safety-first policy hasn't been due to any lack of decision on his part. On the contrary, he has been pursuing definite lines, and he would seem to me to have been motivated mainly by two reasons:

1. The conviction, or strong hope, that the allied blockade, coupled with propaganda, will bring victory without great bloodshed by cracking the morale of the German people and making them turn against Hitler.

2. The fact that neither Britain nor France will reach the peak of preparedness for hand-to-hand fighting, so to speak, before next year and perhaps not until 1942.

Despite the criticism of Chamberlain's policy he presents a staunch figure in commons, which still accords him a sound majority of support. For his followers know that while he is stubborn, and may be mistaken, still he is applying to the present situation all that shrewdness which he employed as chancellor of the exchequer to pull England out of the great depression almost single-handed.

Also, there is no question that Chamberlain has the courage to inaugurate a war of "action" if he believes it warranted.

Boileau Supports Roosevelt, Farley Urges Progressives, Liberal Democrats to Back Delegates

Wausau—(AP)—Gerald J. Boileau, Wausau progressive and former Wisconsin seventh district congressman, urged state progressives and liberal Democrats last night to unite in support of "officially endorsed Roosevelt-Farley delegate candidates" to the Democratic national convention.

"If we Progressives and Roosevelt Democrats divide our strength, there is a possibility of this state sending conservative delegates to both national conventions," he asserted in a radio address.

"We should therefore unite behind the group of Roosevelt delegates who are best organized and who are most likely to carry the Roosevelt banner to victory."

"It seems to me that that group is the official Democratic organization of the state—a group that has always stood for President Roosevelt," he said. "If we divide our strength, we may send delegates to the convention who are hostile to Roosevelt. If the Progressives and liberal Democrats join in voting for Roosevelt-Farley delegates, we will be sure to carry this state for the Roosevelt delegates."

Sen. Mack Opposes Civil Service for Pension Employees

Says County Should Have Control of Personnel in Department

Civil service in county social security departments is opposed by Senator Mike Mack, Shiocton, on the grounds that it would tend to take control out of the hands of the county which foots the greater part of the relief bill.

An agreement was reached last week between county representatives and the state department of public welfare to postpone the effective application of the new statute until after the plans are discussed by the 71 county boards at their annual meetings in May.

Senator Mack, chairman of the Outagamie county board, said he would oppose the program when it is discussed by the board. He stated that under the present set-up, the county can select the personnel, while under the civil service program local officials would have no choice in the matter.

"We have a number of persons living in the county who now can qualify for positions in the pension department, but restrictions set up by the civil service law could make it necessary to fill positions with persons from outside the county," he explained. "When the county is paying the bill, the county should have a voice in who is handling the money."

Last year the state government provided 10 per cent of a $14,000,000 general relief bill in Wisconsin.

Sen. Vandenberg's Experience Noted By Fred H. Clausen

Milwaukee—(AP)—American cannot afford to choose a novice in business and economics to direct its affairs of national government, Fred H. Clausen, Horicon (Wis.) manufacturer, declared here last night in an address supporting Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg for the Republican presidential nomination.

"The record of Senator Vandenberg is offered in direct contrast to the record of fumbling and guessing now going on," said Clausen, who is a candidate for Vandenberg-instructed delegate at large to the Republican convention.

"Senator Vandenberg has said 'America is at the crossroads,' he asserted. 'It is for the people to see which direction our leaders shall go. There never was a more momentous decision to make. The awakened demand now is for leaders who know how to go and where to go.'"

Lawrence Chapter Awards Scroll to Trever at Banquet

Phi Delta Theta Honors Professor for 40 Years of Work

The Phi Delta Theta chapter of Lawrence college at a Founders day banquet last night presented Dr. A. A. Trever, professor of ancient and European history, with a testimonial of appreciation.

The scroll was presented to Dr. Trever by George Banta, Jr., Menasha, a past national president of the fraternity, in recognition of the professor's years of work on behalf of the fraternity. Dr. Trever's affiliation with Theta Phi and Phi Delta on the Lawrence campus covers about 40 years.

About 80 members of the Fox river valley alumni club and the active chapter attended the banquet, held at the Conway hotel, and heard talks on fraternity matters by E. E. Ruby, Menasha, editor of the fraternity's two magazines, and Dean Donald M. DuShane of the college.

Banta acted as toastmaster at the banquet at which President Thomas N. Barrows spoke of Dr. Trever's work. Dean John S. Millis was a guest at the dinner.

John W. Owen, Menasha, treasurer of the Theta Phi corporation, presided at the burning of the mortgage on the fraternity's house at 424 E. North street.

J. H. Witterding of Menasha, province president, presented the Cleveland trophy to the Lawrence chapter, an award made to the outstanding small-college chapter, and Joe Morton, Batavia, Ill., president of the active chapter, introduced new initiates.

Fraternity scholarship awards were made to Ben Ewers, Edgerton, Robert Noonan, Park Ridge, Ill., and Richard Calkins, Racine.

After the meeting, alumni and members looked over plans for the new Lawrence college fraternity quadrangle, construction of which starts this spring.

Alumni from Milwaukee, Stevens Point, Green Bay and other Wisconsin cities attended.

Green Bay Tax Officer Slated To Lose His Job

Barlow Says "Gailbraith Doesn't See Eye to Eye" With Him

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Allan Gailbraith, presently in charge of the Green Bay division office of the state department of taxation's property tax division, will be dismissed from state service under the tax department's reorganization program announced this week, it was learned here today.

Questioned on the disposition of the Green Bay office personnel, Elmer E. Barlow, director of the tax department, and author of the reorganization plans said "Gailbraith will go because he doesn't see things as I do."

Barlow said that names of all employees to lose their jobs under the departmental shakeup will be made public tomorrow.

The whole eastern and east central section of Wisconsin, with the exception of the Milwaukee industrial region, will be grouped together in a new property assessment district with headquarters at Fond du Lac, according to Barlow, effective April 1.

Director of the district will be A. E. Hach, now a deputy supervisor at Eau Claire. Deputy offices will be maintained at Green Bay and Jefferson, in the new district, Barlow explained. Arthur Schroeder, now in charge of the Manitowish branch office of the Green Bay district headquarters, will become deputy at Green Bay, while a new man will be put in charge of a Jefferson office.

Barlow said that because of the highly industrialized character of the Fox river valley part of the new eastern Wisconsin district he may add an industrial engineer to the staff of the new Fond du Lac office. He pointed out that the Fox river valley industrial section is second only to Milwaukee county in importance.

He also revealed that L. W. Krueger, for many years in charge of the state office of the property tax division, will leave state service effective June 1. He will be replaced by Forest W. Gillette, who will have the title of state director.

At present there are about four property tax supervision districts in the area Barlow proposes to consolidate into a single unit, with headquarters at Madison, Fond du Lac, Green Bay and Manitowish. Purpose of the change, the official explained, is to secure uniformity of valuations and assessments with in general geographic areas. Although Barlow would not comment on the suggestion, there is a general belief in the capitol the reorganization is a preliminary move on the part of Barlow in a campaign to reduce property assessments generally.

Shopping Baskets Used to Help Germany Win the War

Berlin—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—German housewives have brought out the old-fashioned shopping basket to help win the war.

An almost forgotten relic in most German households, the shopping basket has now become a treasured auxiliary to the housewife because grocers and butchers are unable to deliver goods to the homes and more important—because it saves wrapping paper and paper bags.

The basket enjoys the benediction of authorities, who publicly have told German women to use it in shopping. It is pointed out that potatoes, for instance, can be dumped right into the basket, as can other vegetables, canned goods, standardized soap and other such commodities. Some stores are displaying signs asking shoppers to bring their old baskets with them.

This is but one of many German war-time economy measures. Another is bone-collecting, which has become a high patriotic duty.

The official German news agency, DNB, has circulated this admonition: "Housewives, don't burn any bones and don't throw them into the garbage can." Bones should be put aside, even when they have been used for soups, and kept in readiness for schoolchildren, the Hitler youths and other voluntary bone-collectors, the authorities say.

Bones thus collected can be put to three uses. For the manufacture of mullage, for industrial fats and for fertilizers.

The fats contained in bones, it is said, is valuable to soap and cosmetics manufacturers besides being useable in other branches of industry.

Experts estimate that three-fourths of the bones in Germany go to waste. That condition, it is insisted, must cease.

Commercial Aviation Reaches New Peak in Passenger Safety

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington—Time was when anyone about to travel by air climbed aboard the plane with the thought that it might be his last trip, that at least he was taking a gamble. But not any more. During the last year commercial airlines in the United States have carried a total of 2,028,817 passengers in 87,325,145 miles of flight without serious injury. That is a safety record not even approached, when volume of traffic is considered, in any other country.

Comparisons with railroad travel should be avoided because the amount of air travel is small indeed, only 814,000,000 passenger-miles, when placed against the 20 billion passenger-miles of annual railroad traffic. Last year 13 railroad passengers lost their lives, nine of them in one accident. You are safe enough in either train or plane.

The year ending March 26, 1939, saw five fatal airline accidents with 20 passengers killed. The year before saw four fatal accidents with a loss of 32 passengers. The tables for the last 12 months register goose eggs for fatal accidents, fatal passenger accidents, passenger fatalities and crew fatalities.

This clear airline safety record has come about through a good deal more than just luck. For instance there was a time when airlines competed with each other for bad weather business. A line flying, for instance, between New York and Chicago would cancel a flight because of bad weather. Now, by agreement among all lines, when any one cancels a flight because of weather conditions, all competitors also cancel. This eliminates bidding for business at the expense of safety.

The Civil Aeronautics authority and the airlines have co-operated in constant introduction of new safety features in plane construction and operation methods. In fact some of the airlines maintain much stricter safety regulations than CAA requires.

The new safety record has been maintained through an unusually severe winter which has placed an exceptional strain upon operating technique.

Better Business Bails Industry Out Of Trouble

Responding to the increased safety, passenger traffic has increased rapidly. In the last year 2,028,817 passengers were carried as compared with 1,389,818 the year before. This increased business has bailed the airline industry out of trouble. A few years ago two-thirds of the lines were either in trouble or were facing it. In 1938 all except two lines were in the black and one of those two cut losses from $750,000 down to $250,000 and will come out in black this year. Airmail is about 25 per cent of the airline traffic and the government subsidy is now practically cancelled by government revenue from airmail postage, so CAA officials say. The subsidy has become a minor factor in airline operation and the profits are coming from increased traffic, which in turn results from increased safety.

Government aeronautical officials are convinced that the chief factor now in the way of further expansion of air traffic is the cost of air travel. Studies are being made now by the CAA, and it is possible that there will be rate reductions during the coming year. Since the government subsidy is self-financing practically through postage revenue, CAA officials seem to lean toward lower rates to the public on the ground that they will stimulate

WHAT! YOU, TOO, MAX!

Max Eastman has turned upon the Reds in rage.

And it can hardly be claimed that the Berlin-Moscow pact alone did the trick, since Mr. Eastman has produced a 300-page book of the most critical sort of analysis of Stalin and his horrible regime, most of which was written before the pact was announced.

It may be remembered that Mr. Eastman was a pillar of Marxian socialism, and that he lived the life of the Soviets right in their own dog-house. Likewise, he has seen every phase of Socialism in action, and done the work of translation for Trotsky, the renegade.

But he has no drop of water to quench the burning fever that rages on the lips of either Trotsky or Stalin. The whole thing is a blunder, a madman's dream, a theory erected so utterly in disregard of human nature that the only way it can be sustained is to strike down in bloody death every man who raises a voice against it. Such is the conclusion of the Soviet's closest associate of twenty years.

Mr. Eastman does include a chapter upon the bombing of Finland. He takes it for comparison purposes. He says:

"The fact is that the bombing of Finland is a polite and civilized gesture compared to the sustained content of Stalin's domestic policies. Instead of being better, Stalinism is worse than Fascism—more ruthless, barbarous, unjust, immoral, anti-democratic, unredeemed by any hope or scruple."

That citation says about everything. It is an elaboration of Hitler's designation of the Moscow rulers as "a criminal scum." But Eastman has no time or respect for Trotsky's slick explanations either. He thinks that were Lenin alive, he would have enough brains to conclude that the whole idea was shot through with fundamental errors, and he would have been ashamed of the awful monstrosities that have been raised and clothed with power.

And so long as he is cleaning house, Eastman is not missing a single spot with the mop. He has some stinging paragraphs upon the "intellectual vagaries of the American apologists for the Soviets," naming such fine-sounding periodicals as the "Nation" and the "New Republic," institutions that Eastman sarcastically refers to in their self-baptized title of "strongholds of American liberalism."

The author says that during the twenty years or so of the Soviets, the sympathy for them among the Fellow Travelers in this country has spread in exact proportion to the growth of cruelty and brutality in Russia, the spilling of blood, and the final elimination of any check whatsoever in the hands of the people.

There is no one who can uncover and expose those participating in a ridiculous travesty upon intelligence so thoroughly and completely as he who has been lured to accompany them upon the journey, but had enough intellect to observe that every step the crazy procession took revealed the impossibility of its concepts more clearly to those who would look, listen, and reflect.

NATIONAL RECOVERY

Into the south of Finland each day are moving hundreds of Russians, while farther to the north the homeless Finns trudge into that part of their republic not yet under the jurisdiction of Stalin.

And little is heard about this great trek. The removal of thousands of Spaniards after the civil war, of the Poles, and the subsequent settling of Poland by Germans and Russians, of Italian migrations to Africa, were well publicized. But Finland is too intent on rebuilding its own resources and independence to worry about news of it being broadcast.

The Finnish people have buckled down to peace time business as they did to war. Their task of rebuilding will be the more arduous because of climatic conditions. They already have plans well organized for an industrious summer so that by next fall the homeless will be housed and the desolation wrought by war erased.

While the Finns uncomplainingly go back to work a united people, the new Russian residents of Hangoe could do well to ponder the inscription on one of the town's prominent statues, that of a German soldier, which expresses the thanks of the people of Finland to the Germans for coming to their aid in 1918 to help in their fight against the great oppressor, the Russian Bolshevik land.

THE PRESIDENT'S MINISTER TO CANADA

So long as the story about Mr. Roosevelt reading a copy of Minister Cromwell's speech prior to its presentation was untrue we heartily commend the White House for issuing a denial promptly and emphatically just in the service of truth.

We are probably running parallel with a great many others when we say we are getting a bit jaded at stories "from unimpeachable sources" but sources that may not be divulged.

There are a good many different kinds of writers in Washington, many of whom are as cautious in presenting theories and conclusions as a trained detective of high degree but some as reckless as Biddy over her wastub hurling thoughts to her neighbor that have just burst upon her from the suds beneath.

The importance of the White House in American life is daily obvious. It should be part of one secretary's duty to help keep the country straight upon the facts. Misunderstandings are bound to occur anyway even in the best organized society and with men only of good will.

And yet one may plausibly wonder why the White House rejects with so much heat the faulty version that it knew and approved Mr. Cromwell's address since what he said was only a re-hash of Mr. Roosevelt's own thoughts delivered on several conspicuous occasions beginning with that Chicago address where the President implied the necessity of fumigation in European affairs, perhaps with the orchid scent of the stockyards wafted round his nostrils.

Shall Mr. Cromwell be lashed with a scorpion whip for merely repeating the thoughts of his distinguished chief? Is there no longer truth or logic in the ancient idea that a blunder grows in proportion to the importance of the man who commits it?

Or have we come to wiping out the idea that "small sins in kings are great" to embrace only the fatuous thought that "the king can do no wrong"?

It is all a very confusing panorama. But it is as true to the New Deal as the North Star. For in its foreign affairs, as in its finances, the New Deal is headless and heedless and runs hither, thither, and yon, but whither no one in command or otherwise may prophesy.

FOR A SANER SOLUTION

The man who is said to have been a party to the breaking of more marriages than any other believes that most marriages could be saved by the establishment of reconciliation courts.

He is Judge Joseph Sabath of Chicago, nationally known jurist, now completing 30 years on the bench of Cook county, Illinois. After hearing more than 50,000 divorce cases, Judge Sabath feels that while some marriages definitely cannot succeed, most could if there was the proper place for marital trouble-shooting. A court where no papers would be filed, but where the presiding judge would use all of his powers of insight and understanding in an effort to untangle domestic relationships, is his suggestion for cutting down the growing number of broken marriages.

True, there are obviously good grounds for divorce in some cases, and it would be a tribute to our democracy that the odium of divorce had disappeared in large measure, if in its place had not come such a staggering acceptance of it as common procedure.

In a more complex world, making a go of marriage is naturally beset by many perplexities not faced by earlier generations, and thus the decision to marry should be much more carefully considered. Changing standards of convention and usage have, on the other hand, removed many of the unpleasant aspects and modern marriages have the opportunity of being more perfect and satisfying as a result, though this chance seems to be overlooked by countless thousands who find their ties too binding or the way too hard. The prevalence of divorce is certainly a threat to American home life and Judge Sabath's idea, based on the stories of the tribulations of those who have come into his court, is worth a trial.

ECONOMY GOES OUT

At the start of this session of Congress the halls of the Capitol resounded with earnest protestations for economy. The senate and the house it was heard were determined to reduce government expenses.

As the session got underway, both the senate and the house did make reductions. There was, in fact, a great fever of economy. The budget shears were used energetically on every appropriation that came along—at first.

Now, with an election approaching, the attitude has changed. The senate overwhelmingly votes $212,000,000 for parity for farmers. The vote, leaving no doubt as to the temper of the senate was 63 to 19. The only "economy" move by the senate was the defeat of a proposed amendment by Senator Lee of Alabama to appropriate $607,000,000 for the payment to farmers of the difference between current prices and full parity rates on the crops named in the committee's amendment.

There are many expenditures that would be for worthy causes. But there is also the question of government income. Obviously an election year is a poor time to undertake government economy.

It is estimated that there are 10,000,000 rubber trees in Liberia.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

BY DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

Washington—For a long time now the Inner Circle has been pulling and pushing to bounce genial little Harry Woodring out of the cabinet. And where everything else has failed, it now looks as if the question of selling United States airplane secrets to the allies might do the trick.

As secretary of war, Harry is opposed to the sale. He even goes considerably further. At a dinner party he told Kansas friends that he feared the president was edging the country into the European mess, and that he, Woodring, might have to resign in protest.

Roosevelt, on the other hand, favors selling the allies the latest model United States airplanes, and selling them as quickly as possible. Assistant Secretary of War Johnson feels the same way and so does Secretary of the Navy Edison, since of the famed inventor. He says that no invention remains secret long, and the French and British might as well help us perfect them.

One secret airplane type which the allies want to buy is the P-46 a new pursuit plane in which the United States lifted certain ideas from the Germans, particularly a two-foot lower fuselage which cuts down wind resistance.

Roosevelt and Johnson feel that if we took this idea from the Germans, there is no reason why the British can't do the same (except for the time element), and that we can perfect better planes by building for the French and British.

Another new plane which the allies are eyeing covetously is the P-38, a Lockheed pursuit plane with a twin Allison motor. In this case, the Germans took over some ideas from us. They built two similar types, the Messerschmidt 112, which was a failure, and the Messerschmidt 111, which is excellent and makes 389 miles per hour using a supercharger.

Meanwhile the Lockheed P-38 makes 381 miles per hour without using a supercharger, which was attached adds about 39 miles of speed.

At present, the plane itself is not secret, but the supercharger is. If the British buy the plane alone they get a ship which goes eight miles slower than the new German Messerschmidt. But if they can buy the secret supercharger, the speed will be about 31 miles faster than the Germans. So some high-placed army men believe the supercharger should be sold to them.

BRITISH FAILURE

Allied censors have tried to suppress it, but British aviation has fallen far short of expectations. The raid over Sylt was a miserable failure, most of the bombs hitting only the sand.

Also the British were caught completely napping when the Nazis raided Scapa Flow. British anti-aircraft guns were late in getting into action, while British pursuit planes did not get into the air until the Germans had started home. Showing how short-handed they were on anti-aircraft guns after the raid, the British actually borrowed 26 of these guns from Belgium.

Real fact is that what the Allies need most are the United States plane detector, secret bomb-sight, and anti-aircraft gun-sight. The British have developed nothing comparable to the U. S. airplane detector, which is why the German planes took Scapa Flow by surprise.

It was obvious also from the poor bombing marksmanship over the German island of Sylt that the British have no bomb-sight which comes anywhere near the American.

Note: The allies have not asked for the release of these three important U. S. military and naval inventions.

SIGHTSEER STOKOWSKI

Orchestra leader Leopold Stokowski's famous vacation on the Isle of Capri with Greta Garbo was the subject of quite a controversy at one of the closed-door meetings of the house appropriations committee.

Representative John Taber, strait-laced upstate New Yorker, brought it up while the National Youth administration budget was under consideration. Stokowski is organizing an orchestra of NYA students for a goodwill tour of South America this summer, and Taber charged that the NYA was spending a large sum of money on the project.

Administrator Aubrey Williams quickly disproved this by showing that the NYA had nothing to do with the undertaking except to arrange tryouts for orchestra applicants. This silenced Taber but not Representative Albert Engel of Michigan.

"Well, what about those stories I read some time ago about his roaming around Europe with Greta Garbo?" Engel demanded. "Now I know Europeans have different standards from ours, but that's no reason why we should change ours. I suggest we call this Mr. Stokowski down here and make him prove he is the right kind of a person to conduct a youth orchestra."

Again Williams interceded, assured the committee that he could submit "documentary proof" that Stokowski was all right. The committee agreed, and a few days later the "documentary proof" arrived.

It consisted of a letter from Stokowski stating that his visit to Italy was "for the sole purpose of revisiting the Old Masters in the Vatican."

FARLEY SITS TIGHT

Despite Inner Circle resentment against Jim Farley, you can write it down that he will not step down as chairman of the Democratic national committee. Neither will he relinquish his other two jobs, postmaster general and New York state Democratic chairman.

No one can compel Farley to resign as national chairman, except the national committee itself, and there is no chance of that between now and the convention, at which time a new committee is elected.

There also is no likelihood of Roosevelt firing Farley as postmaster general, no matter how sore he may get at him. Roosevelt doesn't fire people, especially cabinet members.

So Jim sits tight until after the election. What he does then depends on what happens at Chicago.

Inner Circle resentment against Farley's retention of the national chairmanship, now that he is an avowed White House candidate, is extremely bitter. The New Dealers contend that this is poor sportsmanship and a violation of the spirit of the Hatch act.

They hold that the national chairman, with the party organization in his hands, should be an impartial figure. With Jim an active candidate, obviously he can't be impartial. The New Dealers even charge that he is using the party machinery to boost his own campaign.

But Jim indignantly denies this. He replies that other members of the cabinet, including the president, have their hats in the ring and he doesn't see why he isn't entitled to do likewise.

A Bystander In Washington

BY JACK STINNETT

Washington—For the first time in 24 years, Republicans and Democrats swing into a battle for the Presidency against the ominous backdrop of big-time European warfare.

The 1940 campaign scene has marked similarities—and some striking contrasts—to that of 1916 when Woodrow Wilson rode to victory over Charles Evans Hughes on the slogan "He kept us out of war."

Again the nation is trying to maintain neutrality. Again a Democratic administration is in power. To Europe on a peace-exploring tour for President Roosevelt went Under-Secretary of State Sumner Welles. To Europe on a similar mission went President Wilson's unofficial ambassador, Col. E. M. House.

The "all-out" war then had a sharper impact on this country than the present "limited" conflict. Submarine sinking without warning of foreign merchant vessels with Americans aboard brought from Wilson an ultimatum that unless Germany abandoned that sort of warfare the United States would sever diplomatic relations. Uncle Sam now forbids American ships and travelers to go into war zone waters.

T. R. Jeered Wilson
In 1916, members of both parties carried guns as well as flags in Citizens Preparedness parades. New York society girls enrolled in a "military training camp" operated by a woman of wealth at Erskine N. Y. In contrast to the current overwhelming "keep out" sentiment many then felt that U. S. participation was inevitable.

Republicans centered their campaign attack on Wilson's failure to take a stronger stand in dealing with the belligerents, particularly Germany. Teddy Roosevelt lambasted him for writing "pusy-footing notes" jeered at the famed Wilson declaration "a nation too proud to fight."

This year's G.O.P. fire is being directed chiefly at Democratic domestic policies. On the international side, Republican politicians are warning of the danger of our getting into the war.

Owing to the third-term enigma and the flock of leading possibilities in both parties, presidential prospects at this time are more muddled now than in 1916.

Unopposed Democratic choice for a second term Justice Hughes was a likely Republican selection although T. R. was getting more of the spotlight.

Hughes won the Republican nomination on the third ballot. Teddy Roosevelt was nominated by the Progressives but declined to support the Republican ticket.

The Wilson-Hughes race was the closest since the Hayes-Tilden contest. Hughes having the better experience of learning that he had lost the presidency after believing he had won it.

Early Returns for Hughes
Early returns from the east and middle-western cities gave Hughes such a large lead that New York newspapers ran the headline "Sweeping Victory for Hughes."

Belated returns from rural sections in the west showed Wilson gaining and, on the third day after election, his victory was conceded. Wilson received 277 electoral votes, Hughes 254.

Before Wilson's second inauguration, unrestricted submarine warfare caused severance of diplomatic relations with Germany. Less than a month after his inauguration, he appeared before Congress to ask a declaration of a state of war.

Editor Post-Crescent—As a taxpayer in the city of Appleton I am highly interested in our tax rate but I am first interested in providing means for clean play and recreation for our future citizens. A swimming pool can not only provide clean recreation for the children, but also for our adults.

As Alderman Bogan said in his speech in the council meeting last week, "I want to see it built in 1940 not in 1950." The agitation for a swimming pool should have started in the city council last fall instead of now so that it could have been under way early this spring. We have money for almost every purpose except a swimming pool. It is nice to have a new city hall and a new court house, but the swimming pool should have come before these. If a new pool is not provided now there will be some other project brought up, so why not make this our 1940 project. Let's see whether the Junior Chamber of Commerce can't stir up public opinion for this project.

Looking Backward

10 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, March 26, 1930
Ten snow plows, working under the direction of Frank Appleton, highway commissioners, were battling snow drifts on county roads Wednesday in the wake of a belated blizzard which struck the state late Tuesday. Chicago was digging out from the worst snowfall in its history.

Appleton high school's band was invited to accompany the Outagamie county rural schools to the state championship basketball tournament, held under the auspices of Lawrence college, was to begin at the armory Thursday afternoon.

Fond du Lac, Beloit, Menominee, Burlington, Green Bay, Baraboo, Eau Claire and Menasha were entered.

The season at Monarch alleys had closed with H. Strutz in the lead with an average of 76.5. Capitols won the league title.

DOING BUSINESS UNDER DIFFICULTIES

Under the CAPITOL DOME

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—The Progressive state campaign this year will be deliberately slanted in the direction of some 200,000 Wisconsin farmers who today, as always, control state politics when they vote with any degree of unanimity.

It is generally acknowledged that when the farm vote turned to the G. O. P. in 1938 the LaFollette ticket was doomed.

Low prices prevailing at election time, and a feeling among some farm leaders that the Progressives had over-emphasized labor's interests in the 1937 legislature to the neglect of agricultural problems, contributed to the startling Progressive losses registered at the polls that fall.

The theory is that while the votes of labor are important, Progressives can't afford to make a pro-labor campaign this year because of evidence that agriculturists don't like that sort of thing. Moreover, some of the worst Progressives feel that the labor vote will be theirs anyway, and that campaign orators will be wasting time which could more profitably be devoted to rural barnstorming if the campaign is centered among the city union voter.

COMMISSION PROBLEM

Members of the Wisconsin public service commission this week are in a tender position as they survey the qualifications of the three non-certified to them by the bureau of personnel for the position of commission secretary.

It will be hard to pass over the name of the No. 1 candidate, Calmer Brown, present acting secretary because of the fact that he bested the next two highest candidates by margins of eight and 12 points, respectively. But some important persons close to the Republican majority members of the commission hold no love for Brown, and may try to influence a decision against him.

FRY INFLUENCE

Eagle-eyed Capitol scouts this week are asking each other if the much-vaunted influence of August Frey, old-time intimate of Governor Heil, over the chief executive is waning.

Inexplicable was the decision of Governor Heil last week to override Frey's recommendation that the state highway department division offices be reduced from nine to five.

Heil changed Frey's proposal radically and ended with six offices in different locations.

Frey had repeatedly predicted that the governor would approve his proposals in toto, and added that he would, if the heat got too embarrassing.

Officers of Butte des Morts Golf club were reelected at a meeting of directors a short time previous.

The officers were Seymour Gmeiner, president; F. E. Sensenbrenner, vice president; Heber Pelkey, secretary and treasurer.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

HELP, HELP, HELP

Bright young woman writing an article for magazine says there is no evidence at all that good nutrition, cod liver oil, vitamin supplements, bare legs, cold baths or ultraviolet light will prevent a cold. Keeping in good physical condition, with plenty of sleep, does help prevent colds and the complications following them. (The help sounds like a radio announcer getting by the Federal Bureau.)

In the first place nobody but the young woman can guess what disease or diseases she has in mind when she says "cold."

In the next place, there is considerable evidence that good nutrition has much to do with anybody's immunity, especially immunity to respiratory infection. Every physician recognizes the value and importance of proper food for the patient who is fighting tuberculosis, and tuberculosis is one of the respiratory infections.

It is true that vitamin A is no more "anti-infective" than is any other vitamin. At the same time it is now well known that the mucous membrane epithelium—the first line of defense against infection depends on an adequate daily intake of vitamin A to keep it in perfect functional condition. So there is not only good scientific ground but clinical experience to support the belief that not just vitamin A, but an adequate daily intake of vitamin A tend to build or maintain immunity against respiratory infection.

The bright young woman implies that plenty of sleep keeps one in good physical condition. I suggest that for every individual who gets less sleep than he or she should have, a thousand get insufficient daily rations of vitamins to maintain optimal nutrition or vite from sheer poverty, from everyday ignorance or from the misleading teachings of bright young women who write articles for magazines and half baked opinions of medical practitioners who have lost track of what's going on in Medicine or medical theories who have never practiced at all.

The insincerity of the young woman's cynicism appears in the final paragraph where the simple layman this bit of third grade logic: "In their ignorance, laymen may be impatient at the little science knows about so silly and common an illness as the cold. But the doctors who are busier at cold research than ever before, already know quite enough to prevent much of the damage and suffering caused by colds if laymen would only stop applying their pet remedies long enough to listen."

I'm only a doctor and I wouldn't know, but if we make take this bright young woman's essay as an index of the present state of medical knowledge the doctors have long years of research yet to do concerning the "silly" subject before they'll prevent much damage and suffering from respiratory infection.

FCC Had No Power To Issue Order in Television Case

Supreme Court Ruling States Rights of Com- mission, Lawrence Says

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington—It isn't often that a decision of the supreme court of the United States disposes almost overnight of a pending controversy. But almost as if predestined to exercise a restraining hand on the usurpation of power by Federal Communications commission in its sudden attack on the television industry, the supreme court through the word of a unanimous opinion rendered in a case wholly apart from the television controversy itself has set forth principles of far-reaching importance to both television and broadcasting.

On Sunday morning the American people read that the communications commission had arbitrarily struck down the development of the television industry by an edict ordering one of the leading companies to refrain from selling sets on the theory that they might become obsolete in a short time. On Monday this correspondent drew attention to the way the commission had completely misconstrued its power as written by congress in the law creating the commission, but it was asserted in these columns that perhaps the commission had derived encouragement from recent supreme court opinions.

Today an apology is due the supreme court for it has proclaimed in a formal opinion that the communications commission did not receive at the hands of congress any power to regulate the broadcasting business but merely to allocate wavelengths so as to prevent interference that the public interest might be served.

Roberts' Opinion
The latest opinion, rendered by Justice Owen Roberts in behalf of the supreme court declares in unmistakable language what the rights of the communications commission are and plainly the commission had no lawful right to issue the order which it did last week, striking down the development of television.

In discussing the issuance of licenses for broadcasting which, of course, is based on the same authority in the law as relates to television licenses the supreme court said:

"The communications act does not essay to regulate the business of the licensee. The commission is given no supervisory control of the programs of business management or of policy. In short, the broadcasting field is open to anyone provided there is an available frequency over which he can broadcast without interference to others. If he shows his competency, the adequacy of his equipment, and financial ability to make good use of the assigned channel."

There is nothing in the foregoing which gives the Federal Communications commission the right to regulate the merchandising of television sets or radio sets or the problem of whether some sets will become obsolete. As a matter of fact, the commission's recent solicitude may possibly be traced to the fact that some companies were prepared to go ahead with television and others were not. But the supreme court says significantly in the same decision:

"The communications act recognizes that broadcasters are not common carriers and are not to be dealt with as such. Thus the act recognizes that the field of broadcasting is one of free competition. The sections dealing with broadcasting demonstrate that congress has not, in its regulatory scheme, abandoned the principle of free competition as it has done in the case of railroads, in respect of which regulation involves the suppression of wasteful practices due to competition, the regulation of rates and charges, and other measures which are unnecessary if free competition is to be permitted."

Matter of Rates
The above disposes also of a point which has been a matter of controversy inside the broadcasting industry for several years, some observers contending that rates could be regulated and others insisting that broadcasting was like the newspaper business, that is not subject to special regulation as to the conduct of the business itself even though licensed.

Justice Roberts' decision may well become in history the Magna Charta of radio broadcasting as well as television for it proclaims the American principle of free competition and in effect stays the hand of a governmental commission which was just getting ready to interpret a few phrases in the existing law as authority to control the entire television industry from set-making sales to merchandising.

The decision also will clear up the doubts of those who thought the F. C. C. had any power to regulate what it calls "limited commercialization" of television licenses or rates for the sale of radio time.

Broadcasting has been freed at last from the bugaboo of a public utility status and the supreme court has really told the F. C. C. it must not interfere in the conduct of either broadcasting or television. It is a happy way out of the dilemma for it cannot be doubted that the F.

New Jersey Survey Reveals Sharp Slump in Democratic Strength; 3rd Term Opposed

BY DR. GEORGE GALLUP, Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

Princeton, N. J.—The announcement that Secretary of the Navy Charles Edison, son of the famous inventor, will seek the Democratic nomination for governor of New Jersey comes at a time when the Democrats may need the strongest and most prominent candidates they can find to hold the states in line. New Jersey went Democratic by a landslide in 1936, but a special study of political sentiment here indicates that the state is leaning Republican at the present time.

With 16 electoral votes New Jersey is one of the top-rank states in importance for the 1940 campaign. The significant news at the present time is the sharp defection in Democratic sentiment which the survey shows has taken place since 1936. Roosevelt carried the state with 60 per cent of the major party vote four years ago. Today, the survey shows, Democratic sentiment has dropped 13 points, one of the largest drops of any state in the country.

The study, conducted by the Institute, put the following issue to a cross-section of voters in New Jersey:

"Which party would you like to see win the presidential election this year?"

New Jersey Voters
Want Democrats to Win 47%
Want Republicans to Win 53%
New Jersey's neighbor to the north, New York State, and her neighbor to the west, Pennsylvania, were both found leaning Democratic by slight margins in recent surveys.

HOW NEW JERSEY HAS VOTED

1936—Roosevelt carried New Jersey with 60 per cent of the major party vote, to 40 per cent for Landon.

1937—The Democratic candidate for governor, A. Harry Moore, was elected with 52 per cent of the vote, to 48 per cent for the Republican candidate.

1938—In the congressional elections Republicans cast a majority of the vote—52 per cent as against 48 per cent for the Democrats. The Republican candidate for U. S. Senator, Warren Barbour, won with 54 per cent, to 46 per cent for the Democratic candidate.

Today—The state is leaning Republican in national politics according to Institute surveys, with 53 per cent wanting a Republican victory in the presidential election, and 47 per cent a Democratic victory.

Johns Urges Funds To Further NYA Work

Washington — (AP)—Representative Johns (R-Wis.) told the house Monday the national youth administration should be provided with sufficient funds to continue its aid to youths in and out of school. "No generation of young people has faced a more stubborn barrier to its progress than the present day problem of insecurity and joblessness," he said.

Johns declared that since the NYA program was instituted four years ago, 55,000 Wisconsin youths have benefited directly, in addition to those aided by the community development and recreation projects.

He added CCC camps in Wisconsin should not be discontinued until the federal government has provided for reforestation and park service.

Clare Major Players to End Season With 'Old King Cole'

CLARE TREE MAJOR Children's theater will close its season in Appleton next Tuesday afternoon when it presents "Old King Cole" at Lawrence Memorial chapel.

The play is not a nursery story, as the title might suggest, but deals with the search of King Cole for a fiddler to fill a vacancy in the famous "fiddlers three." Disguised as a beggar, the king is wandering through a city in Asia when he hears a boy crying. He enters the courtyard of an inn and learns that the evil landlord is holding a brother and sister there of King Cole's own race whom he is raising to sell as slaves.

The adventures which result in the rescue of the two children and the appointment of the lad to the post of third fiddler comprise the rest of the play.

Planned to give children a broader knowledge of the literature, customs and dress of other countries through the medium of good theater, the play, however, is full of incongruity as the result of the old verse about Old King Cole and his pipe and fiddlers. The fact is that King Cole could not have had either a pipe or fiddlers for neither existed in his day. He was a British king who ruled in the third century, according to the encyclopedia, and at that time neither pipes nor violins had been invented, at least not in Europe.

King Cole fought the Romans and took from them the city he named after himself, Cole-Chester, "Chester" means a walled city, and of the old Roman wall which surrounded the town much still remains.

Having had two contradictions washed on her in "Old King Cole" by the verses with which some nameless bard made him famous, the director of the Clare Tree Major theater has added another. All though her actors will be dressed in the usual trunks and short skirts of the story books—these in themselves several centuries too late—the music they will play must be several centuries still later, for nothing is known of music much earlier than the seventeenth century which would be of any value to the children for whom the play is to be given.

50 WPA Workers To Lose Jobs in Outagamie County

Layoffs Part of National Plan to Scale Down WPA Employment

Approximately 50 WPA employees will be discharged in Outagamie county during the first week of April under the blanket order of Philip D. Flanner, head of the Works Progress Administration in Wisconsin, to reduce the state's quota by about 6,000 workers.

The estimate for Outagamie county was made at the Green Bay district office which controls WPA work in Outagamie and 11 other counties in this area. The number of workers in the district will be reduced from 7,650 to 6,800 workers.

The layoffs are part of a national plan to scale down WPA employment by one third to keep within the present national budget which runs to June 30. Further dismissals will be ordered during May and June.

The Green Bay office said that because of the availability of farm work in the rural areas at this time, the layoffs probably will be greater in the rural areas. First consideration will be given to sponsors of projects in municipalities where jobs are not so easily obtained.

The April quota will be cut from about 55,000 to 49,000 for the state as a whole and the reductions in the state districts are as follows: Green Bay, from 7,650 to 6,800; Milwaukee, from 20,300 to 18,000; Stevens Point, from 7,000 to 6,350; Madison, from 7,300 to 6,500; Ashland, from 6,275 to 5,500; and Menominee, from 6,525 to 5,850.

Three Injured as Car Hits Culvert

Icy Pavements Blamed for Two Accidents in County Yesterday

Three persons were injured when a car driven by Henry Van Schyndel, 65, Little Chute, skidded on Highway 10 two miles west of Appleton about 8 o'clock last night and struck a culvert. Schyndel, who was bruised about the head, was driving east at the time of the accident, according to Ronald Decker, county traffic officer. John Van Laanen, 72, Little Chute, suffered a cut over an eye and arm and body bruises. Louis Veragen, Little Chute, suffered minor cuts about the face.

Edward H. Hoffman, 2962 N. Stowell avenue, Milwaukee, escaped with minor chest injuries when his car skidded off Highway 45 a mile west of Greenville and rolled over about 5:30 yesterday afternoon, according to Jack Frenz, county traffic officer. Hoffman was pinned in the wrecked car, and a door had to be pried open with a crowbar before he could be freed.

He was presented under the direction of Miss Droeger, Monday evening, April 8, in the high school auditorium. This will be guest night. No admission fee will be charged but a silver offering will be taken.

any relief funds. Early said he assumed the message "would take the form of a supplementary estimate."

How much more, if any, the president may request beyond the original $1,300,000,000, was a matter of speculation. Should he ask for any substantial increase, it would bring into even greater prominence the problem of balancing the federal debt limit or raising new taxes.

On Capitol Hill today the congressional economy drive, aimed at avoiding either of these, ran into new trouble when Senator Thomas (D-Okla.) opened a fight for more flood control funds. At the same time some house members rallied behind a move to see that relief funds were increased beyond Mr. Roosevelt's original budget figures.

Jobs Big Issue

The president is figuring was based on an expectation that private industry would absorb a substantial number of the unemployed. If it should, the original amount would stand, but any leveling off or decline in employment, Mr. Roosevelt conceded, would necessitate a request to congress for a larger sum.

In his budget message to congress in January, the president took note of that situation when he asserted: "Relief expenditures should be closely related to actual needs. If conditions fail to meet our hopes, additional funds may be necessary. I may, therefore, submit revised estimates later in the session."

Catlin Disturbs "Harmony" of Game Commission, Editor Says

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison, Wis.—Hugh Jackson, editor of the Wisconsin Sportsman, today accused Commissioner Mark Catlin of Appleton of "disturbing" the "dignity and prestige" of the state conservation commission.

In a bitter editorial attack on Commissioners Catlin and Wally Adams of Vilas county, Hell-appointed members of the non-salaried board which regulates the state's natural resources, Jackson scored them for disrupting the harmony of that body.

Writing of the commission of the past, Jackson maintained that "it has maintained a certain dignity which was admirable, and has ruled in the main, without political fear or favor. It has built up, in the minds of most sportsmen and conservationists, a certain amount of prestige."

"Last year this picture of dignity and prestige was disturbed. Gov. Hell appointed to the commission a tall, bushy-browed, garrulous, tub-thumping attorney, Mark Catlin Sr., who has since embarrassed the commission by tactics many considered unseemly in a freshman commissioner," said Jackson.

"Mr. Catlin barged into commission meetings with gusto, monopolized much of the commission's time with long dissertations on what he thought ought to be done. He had big ideas about how the department should be run, did Mr. Catlin. He soon displayed a marked antipathy toward the conservation department's director, H. W. MacKenzie, and in recent months has talk-toured around the state, together with another freshman commissioner, recently appointed Wally Adams, condemning the conservation department."

Jackson said that Catlin's "intolerance" aroused him. "It's a matter of taste, manners and sportsmanship. There are some things one just doesn't do, that aren't cricket."

courthouse building bond resolution, and District Attorney Raymond P. Dohr said that the attorney general was ready to approve it when the changes were made. One of the changes was to stipulate 2 per cent interest on the bonds instead of the wording "not to exceed" 2 per cent.

Supervisors also voted to dissolve the courthouse trust fund and to transfer the money to the courthouse building fund.

A resolution petitioning the state legislature to amend the constitution to prohibit diversion of highway funds was adopted. The resolution was introduced by the highway committee which pointed out that more than $1,000,000 in highway funds have been diverted since 1932 and that about 100 miles of road in the county need construction.

Tree Planting

Mark Catlin, member of the state conservation commission, commended the board for its recent action in setting up a public hunting grounds and urged the rural supervisors to start tree planting programs on their farms. He said there is much land on hillsides and in brush areas that could be used for the program and stressed the value of reforestation.

"The time is coming," he said, "when a law will compel planting of trees on certain areas. Cutting of trees without replacing them during past years has had its effect on the state's temperature which is becoming similar to the plains states."

A petition of the town board of Maple Creek to have the county include in the county trunk system a town road between Highway 76 and County Trunk D was referred to the highway committee.

A petition signed by about 50 residents of the First ward, Kaukauna, asking the county to cut the brush and box elder trees on a piece of county owned land on W. Wisconsin avenue, Kaukauna, was referred to the highway committee.

Magnus, Members of AAA Committee at 4-County Gathering

J. F. Magnus, county agricultural agent, and members of the Outagamie county AAA committee attended a district AAA meeting at Stevens Point yesterday to get information on the plan for furnishing of time to farmers under grant of aid program.

Members of the county AAA committee are Joseph Garvey, Appleton, chairman, Tom Dorsey, Black Creek, and John Dolan, Kaukauna. Walter Katterhenry, Madison, AAA state chairman, and Marvin Smith, Madison, AAA auditor, spoke at the meeting. Outagamie, Waupaca, Waushara, and Portage counties were represented.

Smelt Fry to be Held Next Week

Waupaca Conservation League Makes Plans For Annual Event

Waupaca—One hundred pounds of smelt are to be delivered next Monday morning to the Conservation league to be used in the annual smelt fry that evening. With the backward season and ice still in the shallow streams where the smelt go to spawn, they are being caught in water 50 feet deep. It is expected they will be brought to the city by Conservation Warden George Hadland of Brown county, former warden in this county. Mr. Hadland has attended these fry annually since he left the county.

The directors of the league have about concluded their arrangements for their second annual sportsman's show and will begin the latter part of the week to sell tickets for the event which is to be held in the new April 11. Three major prizes will be awarded: a row boat, outboard motor and portable radio. Entertainment is also being planned by the board of directors—Elmer Torsell, president, Milton Lutz, A. E. Woody, William Kneeland, Paul Williams, Ed Pommer, Will Milus and Dr. A. M. Christofferson.

A petition signed by about 50 residents of the First ward, Kaukauna, asking the county to cut the brush and box elder trees on a piece of county owned land on W. Wisconsin avenue, Kaukauna, was referred to the highway committee.

The petition said the trees and brush were unsightly and obstructed a view of the river. Several supervisors, however, were of the opinion that the trees offered a screen for a rubbish heap at the lower end of the land.

Timid Advance of Spring Stopped by Another Snowfall

Temperatures Rising; However, 31 Above in Appleton Today

Appleton school children discovered that the snowball season had returned when they started for home during the noon hour today. Rising temperatures followed a moderately heavy fall in the city and vicinity yesterday and last night.

Cloudy tonight and tomorrow, with showers in the west and south portions of Wisconsin Thursday afternoon, and rising temperatures is the forecast issued today by the Milwaukee bureau.

Yesterday's snowfall was heaviest in the southern part of the state, the second in that area in a week, the Associated Press reported.

The snow began falling yesterday and continued last night, reaching a depth of four to five inches in the southern area. A few miles north of Milwaukee, an eight-inch fall was reported.

The forecast for tonight was for cloudy skies. Showers were predicted for tomorrow in the southern section.

The snow was accompanied by higher temperatures. Appleton's 24-hour minimum was 22 above at 8 o'clock this morning. Yesterday's high was 25 and at 1 o'clock this afternoon, the instrument atop the Post-Crescent building registered 31 degrees.

Lows Are High

Other than last night were Milwaukee 27, Madison 25, LaCrosse and Green Bay 22, Wausau 19, and Park Falls 11.

Slippery streets resulted in numerous traffic mishaps in Milwaukee. Several persons were injured. Two women were treated at the emergency hospital there for injuries suffered in falls.

The soft snow last evening turned the countryside into a midwinter scene, but today's mild temperatures turned streets into mud-spattered slush. The precipitation measured .28 of an inch.

Rain and snow pelted most of the midwest farm states today, the Associated Press reported from Chicago.

Snow ranging from a half-inch to a half-foot or more in depth buried vestiges of spring in parts of the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Shadows fell in some areas of Iowa and Missouri and in most of Illinois, Indiana and Ohio.

More precipitation and rising temperatures were in prospect.

THE WEATHER

Forecast for Wisconsin: Mostly cloudy tonight and Thursday, followed by showers west and south portions Thursday afternoon or night; rising temperatures Thursday.

The small tractor and plow was used this morning to loosen snow and ice which readily melted under traffic on busy streets.

Farley Predicts Party Triumph

Sees Victory 'if We Stand United and Work Together'

Bangor, Maine—(P)—Lavish in his praise of the administration's record, but without a word of his own presidential aspirations or those of any other Democrat, Postmaster General James A. Farley today prophesied another national victory for his party "if we stand united and work together."

Farley's nearest approach to what might be interpreted as a reference to the 1940 nomination fight came in the closing lines of a speech prepared for Maine's Democratic state convention.

"We have experienced leaders to offer the country . . ."

The Democratic national committee chairman's speech had been eagerly awaited in the hope it might shed some light on the closely-guarded plans of the president, but the man who piloted Mr. Roosevelt to victory in 1932 and 1936 and who, as an avowed presidential candidate, himself this year, would be the president's foe if the latter decided to seek a third term, only mentioned his chief's name twice.

In reviewing the administration's accomplishments, Farley said: "The Roosevelt administration has been sincere in purpose and honest in practice. . . ."

Discussing the likely trend of Republican campaign policy, the Democratic strategist declared:

"Having condemned the Roosevelt administration and all its works for seven long years, the (Republican) party has now discovered that it may be compelled to endorse the major administration policies. . . ."

Tinkham Asserts Dewey Is 'Unfitted to be Candidate'

Washington—(P)—Representative Tinkham (R-Mass.) said in a statement today that Thomas E. Dewey had evidenced his utter lack of sympathy with traditional American policies and was "unfitted to be the Republican candidate for president."

The Boston representative, who has served 25 years in the house, asserted that the New York district attorney in a recent speech "publicly endorsed the internationalist policies of President Roosevelt."

Remarking that Republicans of Wisconsin, Illinois and Nebraska would elect delegates to the national convention within the next two weeks, Tinkham, a member of the house foreign affairs committee, continued:

"They will have an opportunity to play a part in keeping the United States out of foreign entanglements and foreign wars by selecting delegates to the national convention who are known to be opposed to the internationalism of President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull."

Dewey, he said, "practically stated that there is no difference between the foreign policies of the Republican party and the internationalist policies of the Roosevelt administration."

"Such a statement," Tinkham added, "is a repudiation of the efforts of the Republicans in congress, who since President Roosevelt's 'quarantine speech' at Chicago in 1937 have been endeavoring to combat the various attempts of the Roosevelt administration to undermine American neutrality."

Tinkham's statement quoted Dewey as saying in a New York address Jan. 20 that "we find the administration (Roosevelt) broadly following the policies both in Europe and the Far East laid down during the 12 years of Republican administrations."

Says Men's Ideas Lean to Disunity

Rabbi Shulman Tells Students "Civilization Is Fragmentary"

Rabbi Charles Shulman, Glencoe, Ill., told Lawrence college students at convocation yesterday morning in Memorial chapel that "our civilization is fragmentary and not coordinated to uses of men."

Titling his talk, "The Role of Religion in Democratic Society," he declared that religion should "coordinate our civilization."

He said that "all material things in the world exist for men, but man does not exist for them," a situation particularly true in Europe.

He continued:

"There is unhappiness and lack of tranquility everywhere in the world; set men today should be able to understand how other men live. Every tool man has created has been on the basis of unifying men and yet the brain of man has created the tendency to disunite men; this is the irony of our civilization today. We lack the character that should be inherent in human beings; we are externally developed but internally inefficient and incomplete. Our civilization is not real but a mere pretense at reality; we need character to achieve a real civilization."

County Farmers Are Signing for '40 AAA Program

More Than 1,200 Already Prepared to Participate This Year

More than 1,200 farmers of Outagamie county already have filled out farm plans indicating that they expect to participate in the 1940 AAA farm program, according to Joseph E. Garvey, chairman of the county AAA committee. The signers represent 32 per cent of the farmers of the county.

A farmer has until May 1 to express his intention of participating in the 1940 program by making out and signing a "Farm Plan" for his farm.

With the recent announcement of parity payment rates on special crops, an Outagamie county farmer now can determine the amount he may earn for compliance with the 1940 program.

Possible Earnings
Complete participation in the program will make it possible for a farmer to earn:

A payment of 15 cents per bushel on the normal yield of his corn acreage allotment. This payment is divided into a conservation payment of 10 cents per bushel and a parity payment of 5 cents per bushel.

A payment of 19 cents per bushel on the normal yield of his wheat allotment. This is divided into a conservation payment of 9 cents a bushel and a parity payment of 10 cents per bushel.

Approximately $1.10 per acre on the acreage available for general crops, which includes such crops as oats, rye, and barley.

Special payments for carrying out soil-building practices such as spreading limestone, planting trees, and seeding alfalfa.

Corn and wheat loans as authorized by the AAA.

Eligibility for wheat insurance in the Federal Crop Insurance program.

Garvey urges farmers who expect to participate in the 1940 program to complete and sign "farm plans" soon, since no payments will be made on any farm for which a "farm plan" is not completed by May 1. Every farmer intending to participate in the 1940 program should see his local AAA committee man at once, if he has not already done so.

Last year 3,400 farmers, operating 92 per cent of the cropland of Outagamie county, participated in the 1939 program. Indications are that the 1940 sign-up in the county will be about the same as that of a year ago.

BOOKED AT APPLETON THEATER

A story of tenderness, compassion and sacrifice, packed with a dramatic power and suspense, "Vigil in the Night," presents Carole Lombard, Brian Aherne and Anne Shirley in the stellar roles. Based on the sensational serial story by A. J. Cronin, author of "The Citadel," the new offering is described as an uncompromising picturization of nursing conditions in an inadequately equipped hospital. Its story centers on the dramatic exploits of a beautiful, altruistic angel of mercy who is torn between her loyalty to her profession and her devotion to her erring sister, Julien Mitchell. Robert Coote, Brenda Forbes, Rita Page and Peter Cushing have important supporting roles.

The second feature is "Millionaire Playboy" starring Joe Penner in which Penner is a bashful young man who comes down with a violent fit of hiccups every time a girl kisses him—and that is too often for Joe's pleasure! Linda Hayes plays opposite Penner.

back to put his arms around me. I buried my head against his shoulder.

"Never mind, Chris. Never mind. I shivered in his arms. "What time is it?"

"Seven o'clock. Chris, listen to me. I have to leave you for a few minutes. Will you be all right? You see, I must tell Mr. Kimball."

"I got hold of a policeman," he said jerkily, "and the detective in the shop called the Sergeant from Richard's apartment. Long as coming right away." He bent over me anxiously. "Are you sure you'll be all right? I'll be back in a couple of minutes. Don't be afraid. Nothing can happen to you now."

And Dirck walked quickly out of the room, closing the door behind him, leaving me alone, my hands clenched in the pockets of my bathrobe, too weak to move away from that window.

It was a dark morning. The sky was a sullen gray in strange contrast with the pure white of the snow in the yard, except for that dark blotch where Richard lay.

Almost Unbearable
It was almost unbearable, being alone. Finally I made myself walk away from the window, cross the room and turn on the lights. And then I knelt in front of the fireplace and crumpled newspapers for a fire. My fingers were clumsy and stiff. It was cold and damp even with the windows closed and there was a stale scent of tobacco smoke. Most of the kindling had been used and there was only one small log left, but enough for a small fire.

Then, shivering, I crept into the wing chair to wait. And for five or ten minutes I sat there without moving.

"Chris!" It was Dirck in the doorway.

I looked up and told him to come in. He came over to the stool and held his hands before the fire. It was the first time I had ever noticed his hands; they were strong, and his fingers were long and tapering. And then I wondered why I kept thinking about them when Richard was dead, when there had been another murder.

His face was drawn, and when he finally spoke again his voice was sharp and tired.

"I told Mr. Kimball," he said, "I think he'll go mad. His eyes were terrible."

"Does anyone else in the house know?"

After a long moment he said, "They have not been told." There was a strange, frightening expression on his face.

"A curious thing to say, I thought. "They have not been told."

Did Dirck mean that someone in the house knew what had happened without being told? Was there someone in the four floors of this brownstone house who knew Richard was lying dead there in the snow?

Dirck buried his face in his hands. "It's my fault," he said slowly. "Somehow — in some way — I should have stopped it."

"Dirck—no—don't worry so." I got up and went over to sit on the stool beside him.

His head was bent forward so that I couldn't see his face, and his arms hung limply at his side now. "How did it happen that you found him—or don't you want to talk?"

There was an odd light in his eyes as Dirck raised his head and looked at me. "I woke up," he said, "and I thought I heard a noise in his room, so I tiptoed out and went upstairs. Richard wasn't there. The window was open, so I looked out." He buried his face—the house was quiet, of course—in his hands again. "I don't know you were asleep. You are the only person, though, I know are couldn't have done it." And then he added irrelevantly, "You looked so pretty asleep there in the chair."

He jumped to his feet. "Well, you'd better dress now. I'll go down to see Mr. Kimball again. Poor old Ishi's scared out of his seven senses."

It took about fifteen minutes under the hot shower before I felt as though I even had the strength to dress. And by the time I had rubbed myself dry and was back in the room again I could hear the Sergeant downstairs.

It was funny, but the sound of his voice calling me from the shop brought me back to normal. It was very reassuring to hear him.

Continued tomorrow.

Horse Sale Will Be Held Saturday

Select List of Animals Will be Offered by County Committee

All horses consigned to the auction to be sponsored by the county horse sales committee Saturday at the Schreier Produce Storage building, Greenville station, have been inspected by a member of the committee, Walter Wieckert, secretary of the committee said today.

The committee was organized to promote the sale of local acclimated horses, and the first sale was held recently. Wieckert said that the purchase of locally acclimated horses prevents diseases from being brought into the county which sometimes occurs when sales are made of horses reared elsewhere. No horse will be sold Saturday that has not been acclimated to this vicinity for at least two years.

Prospective buyers may inspect horses consigned to the sale at the farm, Wieckert stated. The sale will start at 12:30 in the afternoon. A select list of horses has been made for the sale, thus insuring the best buys, Wieckert said.

Horses will be on display at the sales grounds at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

Safety Speaker Terms Knowledge Antidote to Fear

'Learn to Fear Constructively.' Humourist Tells Audience

Neenah—"Learn to fear constructively," counseled Charles Milton Newcomb, Delaware, O., during one of the few serious moments of a humorous address at the final meeting of the Twin City Safety school series last night at the Neenah High school auditorium.

Embodiment of advice on safety in a continuous series of anecdotes, Newcomb, who is considered one of the outstanding humorists in America, distinguished between courage and fear. Stating that "Your measure of courage is your measure of fear," Newcomb defined "A brave man as one who is afraid and in the face of fear, goes forth."

The greatest emotion that disturbs mankind is fear, according to the safety speaker, and there are five things that men fear most, accident and disease, loss, displeasure to the group, failure and the unknown.

The two antidotes to fear, he told the large audience, are knowledge and faith. He suggested to "Conform to the universe of laws is to protect yourself from danger, and in safety, fear has either a positive or negative value, and it may have a positive one. There are many to day who are alive because of fear."

Because of the fear of accidents and disease, this safety movement has been built up, the speaker said, and he commented on the remarkable records established by airlines when they went through a year of service without a fatality. "There is safety work in back of that," he pointed out.

Always a Solution
"People get discouraged," he said, "when they have a personal problem, brood over it and conclude that there's no way out of it. Some even kill themselves. But every human problem has a solution, but you don't know where to find the answer because they don't look in the right place, while if they would look within themselves, they would find the answer to their problems."

Preceding Newcomb's talk, the Kimberly-Clark corporation band, under the direction of Lester Mais, Neenah High school director, presented a short concert. John C. Simonich, Kimberly-Clark corporation, was chairman of the general meeting.

Prior to the general session, five sectional meetings were held at which safety talks on specific subjects were presented. At the sectional meeting on general maintenance, construction, electrical and power, Ray Kivell, Oshkosh, C. R. Meyer Sons Construction company, talked on "Construction." Dan Howman, Kimberly-Clark corporation, was the chairman.

A. J. Forsyth, chief safety engineer, Continental Casualty company, Chicago, talked on "Safety and Transportation" at the sectional meeting on transportation, materials and handling. Morgan Wheeler, Wheeler Transportation company, was the chairman.

Machine Room Hazards
Forrest Werling, Kimberly-Clark corporation, was the speaker at the manufacturing and converting sectional meeting, and he talked on "Machine Room Hazards." Melvin Reelin, Neenah Paper company, was the chairman.

The safety school series has been sponsored by the vocational schools and industries of Neenah and Menasha in cooperation with the Wisconsin industrial commission.

A. C. Haseloff, secretary, Gilbert Paper company, was general chairman, and Carl Christensen, director, Neenah Vocational school, was secretary of the school. The committee consisted of L. A. Carpen, Neenah Paper company; S. E. Crockett, Menasha Vocational school; John H. Eckrich, Menasha Wooden Ware company; H. A. Klemm, Wisconsin Industrial commission; Henry Jung, Hardwood Products corporation; Edward Page, Kimberly-Clark corporation; John Pinkerton, Gilbert Paper company; Francis T. Cloak Concludes Talks on Theater

Dramatics Professor Reads Play Passages To Illustrate Lecture

Neenah—Language in the theater, what makes for its good qualities, the methods playwrights use to achieve it and examples from Shakespeare, O'Neill's "Strange Interlude," Anderson's "Key Largo" and "Winteres" featured the concluding lecture on the theater for the close season of F. Theodore Cloak, associate professor of speech and dramatics, at Lawrence college, spoke Tuesday afternoon at the Woman's Tuesday club meeting in the Neenah Public library.

Listing good qualities as economy of content which makes playwrighting the most difficult, adaptability to emotional moods of audiences, speakable suitability for interpretation and great scope, Professor Cloak pointed out that the methods employed to achieve this were naturalism, selected realism which is more true to the theatrical spirit, imposition of individual style and making characters speak as they might wish to speak had they power of utterance.

Prior to his discussion of language in the theater and his presentation of passages from various plays to illustrate, Cloak discussed the current Broadway shows, among them Hemingway's "Fifth Column" which received a composite rating of 50 per cent by the critics. "The Male Animal," by Gerber-Nugent which received a 94 per cent rating, "Passenger to Bali," which stars Walter Huston which received 25 per cent, "Two on an Island," by Elmer Rice, in which Betty Fields, former student of Professor Cloak is playing, "The Weak Link," which the speaker says "is a good title." High box office prices, Hollywood competition which draws writers and producers, petty duplicity of ticket sales; exorbitant building and producing costs, bad feelings among writers, producers, actors, stagehands all play a part in poor seasons for drama and the theater, he said.

Candidates Keep Expenses Under $5

Neenah Clerk Gets Only 7 Requests for Absentee Ballots

Neenah—Expense accounts which have been filed by candidates for offices in the municipal election Tuesday, April 2, show that not one of the 19 candidates spent $5 or more. The candidates don't have to report expenses under $5.

City Clerk H. S. Zemlock reported that there have been only seven applications for absentee ballots. If a voter will be out of town on election day, he may cast his ballot with the city clerk by Monday, while ballots which are sent out of the office must be returned by Saturday noon.

Registration for the election has closed, and only those voters who are accompanied to the city clerk's office by property owners from their ward who are voters and are sworn in may be registered. There will be no registration on election day.

Clerk Zemlock reported that those persons who haven't voted recently may renew their registration by casting ballots in any of the three elections this year.

Delegates to Convention, Nominating Committee are Named at Meeting of PTA

Neenah—Mrs. Henry Johnson and Mrs. James Drybe were named delegates to the Parent Teacher Congress at Fond du Lac April 23, 24 and 25 and Mrs. Ray Van der walker was chosen chairman of the nominating committee at the Kimberly school Parent Teacher association meeting Tuesday night in the school. Miss Evelyn Davies, Mrs. John Blecker, Henry Johnson and Charles Shoman were appointed as other members of the nominating committee.

A panel discussion on the question-phased topic "Is My Child Succeeding in School?" featured the evening program. As guest soloist during the musical program which opened the meeting, Mrs. Norbert Verbrick presented three vocal selections "The Moon Behind the Cottonwood," "Until" and "The Star." Miss Ruby Hart was Mrs. Verbrick's accompanist.

Miss Ethel Newby, Fond du Lac, substituted for Miss Margaret Roberts, Fond du Lac, as chairman of the panel discussion. Mrs. Henry Johnson, Mrs. Wilbur Sparks and Gordon Alberts were the other panel members.

Emphasizing the individuality of students who make up the school, Miss Newby deplored the parental attitude of measuring a child by another child within the family or by a cousin or a neighbor's child in his achievements. The school, in modern education, is for the child and the work must be adopted to fit the child. The home and school can't be separated in serving the child and thereby the community, she pointed out as she introduced the discussion.

Success Necessary
Speaking directly about report cards, Miss Newby said "report cards that consider only the academic achievements are terrible. The teacher is thinking one thing when she grades a child, the parents, reviewing the report card, think something else and the child thinks something else. Children should be marked in other growths as well as mere grades do not always enable a child to experience success which is vitally necessary."

Mrs. Sparks contrasted the vast difference between the educational equipment and the selection of teachers in pioneer days and today, contending that she believed a great deal had been lost in the setting of standards of success because of the wide distance between parents and teachers. Today, parents generally, turn over children to the schools and those parents do not know the teacher and the teacher does not know the parents.

Mrs. Sparks continued in her discussion to point out that she believed what parents should reasonably expect from the school was gradual dawning of knowledge of learning and a draining in the fundamental skills, declaring that increased ability to adapt one's self to society was not essentially a job of the school but of the home with the school.

"I sometimes believe," she added, "that too much emphasis has been placed on earning a living and not enough on successful making of a life, together with making a living. Over-emphasis on cultural pursuits in high schools can be detrimental because students try to do too much without achieving anything."

Scores Prodding
Dr. Gail Broberg discussed success and its part in personality development, emphasizing the problem parents who make difficulties for their children by attempting to push or prod them in order to trade on their successes. It is the wrong patterns in adults who make necessary child guidance clinics.

Fear is one thing which defeats children more than any other factor, declared Mrs. Henry Johnson as she said that failure to come up to the expectations of parents, teachers and scheminates, brings about defense mechanisms within the child which may make "for problems. If standards were relaxed or success made easier for the individual child as, to his needs, more happy experiences could be gained. Teachers as well as parents must learn to say "different" without meaning better or worse when dealing with children. Mrs. Johnson stated as she discussed individual differences in general. The average child rarely fails because of his fear ability but more because of his fear of not succeeding. A child's achievement ought to be the best he can do with the best of his endowments, she said.

Gordon Alberts, speaking on censure, rewards and punishments, pointed out that the individual responsible for the artificial stimuli, the philosophies of guidance and the recipients of the stimuli must be considered as he discussed each. The average youngster, it has been said, is honest until contaminated by adults. One must search for the cause of the problems of the child and generally the investigation comes closer to home and puts the parents on the "pan." Children are a tissue of reflecting mirrors and as parents can see the teacher in the actions of the child, teachers can see the parents in the child. Both teacher and parent must meet problems squarely before they can guide successfully.

She travels for 40% LESS
Here's a "young modern" whose Dad thought of getting a used car so she could drive 20 miles a day to and from school. But that would cost 2¢ a mile for gasoline, oil and tires alone. And because she lives on the Orange Line, she proved to Dad that she could ride the ROAD CRUISERS at 1 1/2¢ a mile—and save enough each semester to buy two school dresses.

Figure it out for yourself. At 3¢ a mile, 20 miles a day for the 85 school days in a semester would have cost $51. She saved 40% — or $20.40 — and Dad didn't have the expense of buying the used car!

Parents Urged to Provide Example For Right Living

Nicolet School PTA Hears Pastor of Episcopal Church

Menasha — "The only effective means of building well balanced lives through spiritual guidance is by ourselves having that life and so passing on the germ of a well rounded spiritual life to the young people by exposing them in our homes to the joys of religious living," the Rev. A. A. Chambers, rector of St. Thomas Episcopal church, told members of the Nicolet school Parent-Teacher association Tuesday evening at the school.

The Rev. Mr. Chambers quoted from Bishop Johnson that "religion is not a gem to be hoarded by those who possess a religious life, but rather, it is a germ which is caught by contagion from others." The two important facts parents must remember in relationship with youth are that adults are under constant observation and the example is being imitated by the young people in our homes, he pointed out.

Hear Choir

The a cappella choir of the Menasha High school, directed by Franklin LeFevre, presented five selections, "The Holly and the Ivy," which is the choir's contest song, a Czechoslovakian dance song, a Russian prayer, "Grant Us to Do With Zeal" and "As Torrents in Summer." Peter Jung presented a camera club exhibit and discussed amateur photography.

During the business session, Mrs. H. Fenner, Mrs. O. C. Johnson and Miss Marie Acker were elected as members of the nominating committee. Mrs. A. J. Hopewell and Mrs. Ira Catlin were named to represent the PTA on the Twin City Council of Social Agencies. Mrs. Hugh Sutton, association president, announced plans for the convention in Fond du Lac in April and said that Neenah PTA members will be invited to the April meeting at which the speaker will be L. P. Goodrich, superintendent of schools at Fond du Lac. Second grade students won the attendance prize, it was announced. Second grade mothers were hostesses during the social hour which followed.

28 Per Cent Cut Shown in County Tax Delinquency

Amount for 1939 Is $222,356 Compared to $310,254 in 1938

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — Tax delinquency in Winnebago county in 1939 dropped 28.4 per cent, from $310,254.27 in 1938 to $222,356.41 last year, according to Earl E. Fuller, county treasurer.

Extended under the state's affidavit plan was $32,290.78, which is due for collection on July 1 without penalty to the taxpayers. All taxes now listed as delinquent must be paid by Aug. 15 or they will become subject to the interest penalty, Fuller said.

Principally because the Menasha Wooden Ware company's property was turned over to the county in lieu of taxes, the return of Carl A. Heckrodt, Menasha treasurer, this year showed a higher percentage of delinquency than any municipality in the county. Menasha returned $33,573.56 in cash, $39,193.32 in delinquent taxes and $3,889.10 in extended real estate taxes for 1938 still unpaid. The city's total return was $76,655.98.

Neenah, through its treasurer, Walter H. Loehning, paid the county $68,945.25 in cash and reported $21,834.26 as delinquent for 1938. Extended taxes for 1938 still unpaid totaled $1,145.63, making the city's total return, $91,915.14.

The city of Oshkosh showed a cash return of $163,292.88 and a 1938 tax delinquency of $99,320.06, with $6,487.59 still due on the 1938 taxes. The total return is $269,095.55.

Amos Page, treasurer of the town of Menasha filed a return of $23,378.06 in cash $620.73 delinquent real estate tax, and $30.88 delinquent personal property tax, for a total of $24,029.67.

Peter Weinman, town of Neenah treasurer, paid in cash to the county $68,945.25 and showed delinquent real estate taxes of $1,145.63 and delinquent personal property taxes of $70.90, making a total of $69,444.44.

The town of Clayton through Frank Struzinski, its treasurer, paid in cash $9,220.97 and returned $2,470.35 as its delinquent real estate taxes for 1938, totaling $11,691.32.

was the chairman for the event and was assisted by Herbert Heller, president of the group.

Johnson Fears Congress Will Cut Appropriations for Army

Editor's Note: During Westbrook Pegler's vacation, the daily column by Hugh S. Johnson will be substituted in the Post-Crescent

Washington, D. C. — Unless the country becomes more alert, congress is going to cut the heart out of the appropriations to modernize the army. That could result in national tragedy, but the army is a sort of combination Cinderella and Little Orphan Annie in our house. The navy gets what it asks for. The army takes what it can get.

There are several reasons for this. One is that the navy is our first line of defense. Nothing in this column should be construed as arguing against appropriations to build up the navy even faster than the present effort. But because so much stress has been put on the first line of defense, we forget that it is far from being our only line of defense, or without a modern army, even a safe line of defense.

On present plans, our navy will eventually be able to deal with any possible combination of naval enemy powers in either the Pacific or Atlantic, but not against any possible combination in both at the same time. With uncertainty over the outcome of this war and the final line-up and strength of the dictator powers — Germany, Italy, Russia and Japan — a 2-ocean problem is a possibility. A 2-ocean navy is not, within the time-limits involved. There is, therefore, a possible great gap in our first line of defense.

But it need not be a dangerous gap, not if we have a small swift and properly equipped modern army, such as the general staff is now trying to create, and adequate harbor and coast defenses in critical areas. With our interior lines, magnificent roads and vast industrial capacity and that kind of land force, any invasion of our shores or even any serious raid would be impossible, even with only a 1-ocean navy with enough left over to scout, patrol and fight delaying actions in the other ocean. Without that kind of any army, the security does not exist.

Such an army is an absolute necessity to our defense in the present world chaos and that is exactly what we do not have. It isn't merely that we haven't got it at all. Now, while the navy is building up, our need for the army is at the maximum. We can build it much quicker than we can build additions to the navy. Disputed appropriations in the present "war" department budget are intended to do this — far too slowly in my opinion — but at least to make a start.

Neither Time Nor Place For Such Monkey Business

As matters stand now, congress is surely going to cut the heart out of them. It is going to cut them in order to avoid taxing or borrowing and to give the money to farmers because this is an election year. It is going to cut them in order to buy and persuade votes and because neither congress nor the country fully understand the defense dilemma and danger, and for other reasons which will be discussed in later columns.

This is neither the time nor the place for such monkey business. You can't deal with these problems after disaster comes. It takes too long to do this kind of job. The fail-

Neenah Jaces Hear Fingerprinting Talk

Neenah — Predicting that civil fingerprinting will be compulsory in the future, George Loper, Oshkosh, Winnebago county deputy sheriff and photographer for the county highway police force, pointed out in a talk at the dinner meeting of the Neenah Junior Chamber of Commerce last night at the Neenah club the value of fingerprinting for identification.

Declaring that civil fingerprinting is valuable to identify drowned, kidnapped and missing persons, Loper stated that all civil service employees are required to be fingerprinted.

The annual election of officers of the organization will be held Tuesday night, April 9.

Don Hutson, Green Bay Packer football star, was a guest at the meeting.

City Government Is Analyzed at Meeting

Menasha — City government was discussed by the Third ward citizenship group at its sectional meeting Tuesday night at the Memorial building under the direction of the discussion leaders, Miss Eleanor Bodden and Carl Drexler.

John Pinkerton, Third ward alderman, analyzed the functions of the various officers and commissions in the city government. Functions of the state government will be considered at the next meeting of the group on Tuesday, April 9, at the Memorial building.

This threatened result as compared with the navy is the relatively cumbersome military appropriation system which makes the army a pie counter for every politician and the special and vital concern of none. This will be discussed here tomorrow.

Waners Nearing End of Careers

Veteran Brothers With Pirates May Leave
Scene This Season

BY RUSSELL NEWLAND
San Francisco — (P) — The Pittsburgh Pirates, in and out of here on a "quickie" series of exhibitions, left one poster which may provide the news behind the baseball news this season.

It deals with the Waner boys, Paul and Lloyd, who taught themselves to hit corn cobs with a broom stick so accurately during Oklahoma school days they became one of the great brother acts of baseball.

The question is: Are the Waners nearing the end of their string with the Pirates?

The answer, on the face of the present set-up, would appear to be "yes."

It may not happen this season, or next. Then again, sudden departure of either from the club, would occasion no great surprise to those familiar with the workings of the team.

They are the sole survivors of an era that saw Pittsburgh win its last National league pennant—in 1927. Like all other playing veterans, they are becoming increasingly confronted with the problem of bucking old man time.

Paul, who joined the Pirates in 1926, will be 37 years old next month. He is beginning his fifteenth season. Lloyd, 33, hopped into a Pittsburgh uniform in 1927.

Three times Paul has led the league in hitting.

Lloyd, smaller than his brother, hit .355 in his first year with the Pirates.

Risch, Captain Enter Final Round

Will Clash for Handball Championship; Former Beats Tourtellotte

Four matches have been played in the double elimination singles Y. M. C. A. handball championships this week. In Class A, Ray Risch entered the semifinal round with Jerome Captain by coming through from the loser's side of the bracket.

In reaching the semifinals, Risch disposed of Arno Seifert by scores of 21-16, 19-21 and 21-9. In the finals on the losing side he eliminated Ed. Tourtellotte, who had previously defeated him, by scores of 20-21, 21-14 and 21-14. If Captain defeats Risch the Class A Tournament will be all over. However, if Risch defeats Captain, a second match will have to be played, as Captain has gone through the tournament undefeated thus far. A player, in order to be definitely eliminated, must lose two matches.

In Class B, Dr. L. J. Murphy reached the semifinals on the losing side of the bracket by eliminating Eugene Mullen and Milton Schwandt from further competition. He defeated Mullen by scores of 21-20, 19-21 and 21-7. In the Schwandt match, the scores were 21-14 and 21-8. Murphy now is scheduled to play Don Powers in the semifinals on Thursday night at 7:15. The winner of this match will play John Bluck, the winner of the Bluck match will play Ken Kitchen for the Class B title. Dr. Murphy was runner up in 1939 while Tom Mullen won the Class B title.

Chisox Edge Out Hollywood, 2-1

Solters Breaks Ninth Inning Deadlock by Driving in Run

Hollywood, Calif. — (P) — The Chicago White Sox scored a 2 to 1 victory over Hollywood of the Pacific Coast league yesterday when Julius Solters broke a ninth inning deadlock by singling Lewis Leiter home with the winning run.

Two singles and an error gave Hollywood its marker in the third, and the Sox came back to knot the count in the sixth on a double, infield out and single by Jackie Hayes. Hollywood held Chicago to five hits while collecting six off three of the visiting hurlers.

Score by innings:
Chicago (A) 000 001 001—2 5 1
Hollywood (Pac) 001 000 000—1 6 1

SIGN BLOCKING BACK
Washington — (P) — The Washington Redskins have signed Vince Farrar, 205-pound blocking back, for a trial this year. A former player at North Carolina state in 1936, Farrar was drafted by the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National Professional league but later was released. He lives in Youngstown, Ohio.

Denton Is Oldest Of Cue Experts

Run of 17 Monday Wasn't Comeback; He's Never Been Away

BY EARL HILLIGAN

Chicago — (P) — The man with the green eye-shade, Tilford S. Denton, doesn't have to worry about making a "comeback" in the current world's three-cushion billiards tournament for the simple reason that he's never been away.

At 58, oldest player in the tournament field of 11 experts, the lean, gray-haired Kansas City veteran is doing the same things that have made him an amazing figure in billiards for 25 years—taking the play from younger, more spectacular stars with thrilling feints.

Tiff's latest accomplishment came Monday night when he had a high run of 17 points, equalling the world's record for tournament play, in a match with Jay Bozeman, youngest player in the field.

Denton himself first set the high run record at 17 in 1919. Gus Cope-los of Detroit tied it in 1930.

Billiards became his game in 1906 in his native Harrison, Ark. A year later he moved to Kansas City and began the climb toward fame and fortune, winning the world's championship in 1923.

"I don't think my game has changed much in 25 years," said Denton, a quiet, genteel sort of fellow who has never been known to offer an alibi in defeat. "My eyes have gone back a trifle, but I can still execute the shots. The field now is as tough as it was then, with one exception. Willie Hoppe (undefeated leader of the current tournament) is in a class by himself—a truly great player."

P-C Keglers Accept Power Co. Challenge

Post-Crescent keglers have accepted a challenge hurled by Power Company bowlers and the match is tentatively scheduled for Thursday evening, April 4, at Elks alleys. The two teams long have been bowling and softball rivals.

APPLETON NOW HAS SKI SLIDE

If the snow which fell last night had marked the first storm of the season instead of the last (we hope) the ski slide erected above probably would be due for long, hard work. It is the slide erected at Pierce park late this winter at a cost to the city of about $400. However, if it hadn't been constructed under WPA with left over materials from WPA projects and for use of city equipment, the project probably would have run to $2,500. Besides the scaffold, which is boarded all around the slide, the grading of the landing hill was the big item. It is estimated that jumps of 75 feet will be possible under ordinary conditions and as much as 100 feet with a few changes in the takeoff.

Plans were being made today to initiate the slide and hill and learn of corrections in the underhill if any changes are desired.

And now, if the city fathers will find another $350 for materials for a toboggan slide, Appleton will really become a winter sports center. (Post-Crescent Photo)

A FEW DAYS AGO it was suggested to the common council by the baseball corporation that a commission be named to operate the Spencer street athletic field. The suggestion, in the letter read to the council, was that the commission be composed of three aldermen and a representative from each of the various major sports.

After a few comments about letting something get out of the hands of the council, the matter was referred to the ordinance and recreational committees for recommendation.

No sounder suggestion ever was offered the honorable members of the common council than contained in the letter. And, as examples of what should be done with the athletic field there are several other "plants" in Appleton not operated by the council—although not exactly of the same nature.

The athletic field is a rather large investment over all and it should be worked to the utmost to bring some return to the city. In other words, a commission should be named to operate it, to exploit it for the benefit of the city, and to promote everything possible on the site to bring the city some kind of an income.

On that committee there should be a couple aldermen, representatives of the various sports and perhaps someone who has no particular interest except to be a neutral party when disputes come up, and there will be many of them. There also should be a promoter on that committee, a promoter in every sense of the word who offers ideas, wild or otherwise, anything that will make use of the field.

As it now stands, the field is operated under the recreational committee and the city electrician—or it was last year. No one is interested in promoting the field until someone comes and asks for it. And if you've ever spent a day trying to find this alderman or that alderman or someone else with authority you know what we mean.

The only promotional work on the field so far has been done by the group interested in organized baseball. However, there are others who will want to use the field when the Class D team isn't at home, there are others who should be talked into using the field, and there are stunts and projects that should be carried on out there almost the year around.

Last August there were times when the field was in use almost every night for a week or two weeks at a time. That should be the situation throughout the summer.

At the moment there are a couple amateur ball teams interested in drawing the season's schedules. But they don't know who can iron out their problems, set their fears at rest nor what the charges are going to be. Someone should investigate the possibility of running two or three softball games on open nights, whether the Legion wouldn't stage outdoor boxing shows and whether some of the things that are staged in the city parks couldn't very well be staged on Spencer field.

It seems the council has other things to think about besides trying to promote the athletic field. So why not delegate the job to someone else?

Catholic Cagers to Begin Competition In Tourney Tonight

Chicago — (P) — Central Catholic of Fort Wayne, Ind., will go after its second straight National Catholic High school basketball championship tonight when competition begins in the 17th annual championship tournament.

The Hoosier team has four of the five boys who won the title a year ago and captured the state championship this season, but the task of repeating will be an extremely difficult one.

Only two teams have won successive titles since the tournament was originated in 1924. De LaSalle of Joliet, Ill., won the 1927 and 1928 events and De LaSalle of Chicago took top honors in 1929 and 1930.

MAP PLANS FOR CITY PIN TOURNNEY

The first annual City association bowling tournament will begin at Elks alleys April 6 and final details for the event are being ironed out. Going over some plans are, from left, standing, Robert Schmidt and Fred Bendt, seated, H. M. Pankratz and Lou Povers. Pankratz, president of the bowling association; Povers, secretary-treasurer, and Schmidt, vice president, make up the executive tournament committee. Bendt is chairman of the arbitration committee which will rule on eligibility of competitors.

At least 100 teams are expected to take part in the tournament. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Breaks Down Last Night Only Few Hours Be- fore Deadline

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — (P) — The St. Louis Cardinals, the dopsters' nominee for the National league flag, scored a crucial off-the-diamond victory in signing baseball's No. 1 holdout.

Outfielder Joe Medwick, who thought his slugging talents worth at least $20,000 this year—a return to his 1938 salary—changed his mind last night and accepted the Cardinals' "deadline" offer of $18,000, same as he earned last season.

The club's stock rose sharply on the heels of the announcement. The Cardinals have only a mediocre record in the Grapefruit league and there had been considerable gloom over Medwick's absence. Several National league managers have picked the Cards to win the pennant with Medwick.

Joe led the National in batting and won the most valuable player award in 1937. His batting average last season was .332.

Getting the left-fielder's autograph on a contract was a triumph for President Sam Breadon.

Breadon and General Manager Branch Rickey had given Medwick his ultimatum—sign by midnight Tuesday or run the risk of suspension 10 days after the season opens. There had also been some talk of a trade "down the river," which Breadon stoutly denied.

Then suddenly last night as the Cardinals were breaking camp at St. Petersburg to come here for a game with Philadelphia, Joe asked the club's traveling secretary for papers and signed.

Van Thull Sponsoring Kimberly in Cage Meet

KIMBERLY—Van Thull cagers, entered in the Northeastern basketball tournament which opens at Green Bay Wednesday evening and continues through Saturday, will have one of its stiffest games on Thursday evening when it plays the Old Line Life of Green Bay. The game will start at 7 o'clock. The Insurance squad has Cliff Osen, formerly of Lawrence college, and Ernie Wolfe, formerly of Marquette university.

The Van Thull Bakers need to be hot against this kind of competition because fans who have seen Wolfe play at the clubhouse remember his excellent performance. Should the Bakers cop Thursday night they will tangle with Oshkosh Friday night at 8 o'clock.

A win over Oshkosh will put the Baker entry in the finals Saturday night. Basketball excitement again is high in the village and Kimberly will be well represented at Green Bay.

Van Thulls have a lineup of well known basketball stars. The team will be managed by Sven Bowman, who will be at one of the forward positions. Ray Hamann, high school coach, will be at center. Norbie Gossens and Elmer Vander Velden, alternating at forwards and Hof-kins, Joe Gossens and Buck LeMay at guards. Elmer Vanden Boogaard and Drek Van Dyke, former high school stars, also need no introduction to the fans nor does Carl Lillig star forward of Appleton, who also will be in the Van Thull lineup.

Basketball to the villagers is what baseball is to Brooklyn. The fans cannot see a worthwhile tournament pass without their favorites being in it and for this reason the most enthusiastic fan, Baker Van Thull, is sponsoring the team. The tournament will be held at the Y. M. C. A. with 12 teams entered. They include Old Line Life, Green Bay, Kewaunee, Brown County Motors, Sturgeon Bay, A. Sheffords, Green Bay, Sturgeon Bay Eagles, Bertrands, Green Bay, Clintonville, Algoma, Green Bay Billy Goats, Oshkosh and Van Thulls, Kimberly.

City Cage Playoff Is Postponed to Friday Evening

Hi-Y Activities Tonight Have Y.M.C.A. Gymnasium Tied Up

Due to previous commitments in the promotion of the Father and Son banquet sponsored by the Zephyr Hi-Y club, and held in the Y. M. C. A. gym tonight, the first round games in the Shaughnessy playoff for the City-Y basketball league championship will be played on Friday evening. The finals are scheduled for Saturday night.

In the first games Friday night, the Sorensen Bakery, winner of second place, will tangle with the Fond Sport Shop, winner of fourth place, at 7:45. In the second game, at 8:45, the Lutz Ice company, first place winner, will meet the strong Valley Sporting Goods, third position winner.

Should the Lutz Ice company be defeated in either the preliminaries or finals, it will have another opportunity to play the winner of the Shaughnessy playoff, for the league championship.

TRY A FOX HUNT

YOU don't have to put that shotgun in the moth balls when the last duck wings south. There's always the cottontail—and the wily fox.

For my part I'll take fox hunting—any day. When you've watched a good dog work the brush, listened with quickening eagerness to his fine "voice" on a "race," matched wits with one of nature's canniest, and bagged your fox at the end of a day-long chase—well, then you've really lived.

Try it sometime. Absorb a little of the ritual and the chatter of fox hunters. Hear them brag about the comparative "coldness" of their hounds' noses. Sit there in the brush with them as they describe for you the progress of the "race" when the pack, far away, picks up a hot trail.

I'll bet my new hat it'll make a fox hunter of you in one trip. And you'll go home talking Potlikkers, July Marylands, Triggs Redbones, and Walkers to your wife. They're fox hound breeds. Before you know it you'll be owning a pair of good Walkers.

Your next trip out you'll be picking out for yourself likely fox "passes" (no pun intended). For they do have passes where a man on a "stand" can get in a quick shot with a charge of B-B's. Usually in clear places and along roads between thickets.

You'll learn, too, that when your dogs start a fox on an open hillside adjacent to good cover timber, it's likely to be a red. But if they got one up in a thicket of brush—that would be a gray. Seems the reds like vantage points for their afternoon siestas.

All these things you'll mark down in your memory, and the knowledge will increase the fascination of fox hunting.

But the beauty of the thing is—you don't need horses. Not in America. The boys "in the know"

Graham Visits Cincinnati Camp

Champions With One McCormick, What'll Reds Be With Another?

BY DILLON GRAHAM

Tampa, Fla. —(AP)—Just to make his National league champions even tougher this year, Deacon Will McKechnie has grabbed up another tough Irishman named McCormick.

Mild Will plunked young Frank McCormick on first base when he took over the Cincinnati Reds two years ago. The husky rookie with the crew-style haircut proceeded to lead the league in hits with 209, Frank exactly duplicated that mark last year and again led the league.

This spring McKechnie is working on young Myron (Mike) McCormick, an outfielder from Angels Camp, California. He figures that if one McCormick startled the league, a pair of them should have the opposition yelping for mercy.

Mike is battling Vince DiMaggio, Walter Berger and Lee Gamble for the left field spot. Harry Craft in center and Ival Goodman in right are certainties. In the early exhibition games Mike has been hitting third with Frank following in the clean-up role.

Fast And A Good Hitter The recruit flycatcher is very fast and a good hitter. He isn't a power hitter but can stretch many long singles into doubles with his speed on the bases. He was a 9.7 second sprinter for the 100-yard route during his schoolboy days.

Mike is another of Judge Landis' free agents who is making good. He was tied up with Cleveland and the good judge cut him loose. He batted .318 last year for Indianapolis and the Reds bought him. An indication of Mike's lack of real power lies in his record of only two homers all last year.

Left field was perhaps the weakest spot on the 1939 National league championship team. McKechnie tried no less than eight players there. None pleased him. He figures that between them, McCormick and DiMaggio can handle the situation. DiMaggio is more of a power hitter than McCormick.

McCormick Praise Counts Vince, playing with Kansas City after having failed in a previous big league try with the Boston Bees, led the American association in here in these United States use cars, unless you get in with one of those silk hat crowds.

Last December I went out with one of the greatest fox hunting and conservation-minded gangs in the northwest—the Southeastern Minnesota Coon and Fox Hunters' association, headquartered in Rochester, Minn.

They started hunting fox as a conservation measure to protect their quail and pheasants. Now they scarcely ever shoot a fox, just run 'em, for they've got Mr. Reynard under control and they want to preserve their sport.

These boys put their hounds out in a likely wood and then just sit in their cars and listen. When they hear the first "beller" of a race they know right where that fox is heading. And they drive over on the side roads, listening every mile or so for the progress of the chase.

Usually they can pick a "pass" that fox is going to cross. Usually they're right. That's how well they know their country and their fox hunting.

It's a pretty thing to watch—a fox hunt. Try it one of these fine days.

The senior circuit doesn't have a more cautious talker among its managers than McKechnie. Bill's honest but he likes to have a sure thing before he goes on record.

And so it was a shock when I mentioned McCormick and Mild

Will promptly said: "He can't miss!" I almost fell off the bench in the dugout. Never before had I heard McKechnie hop out on a limb so quickly.

So when you think of Mike McCormick, just remember that a prime judge of baseball ivory, old Deacon Will, said:

"He can't miss!"

Sarazen Mapping Out Comeback

Gene Feels Winter Campaign Will Prepare Him for Summer

BY BILL MONI

Greensboro, N. C. —(AP)—Far from looking forward to retirement, Gene Sarazen at 38 is mapping out a campaign for at least three more years of tournament golf.

Part of that campaign includes play in the current winter tour. He hasn't finished first yet; but starting the three-postponed second round of the 5,000 Greensboro open today he was only two shots back of Ben Hogan and Clayton Hearner, leaders last Saturday with 69's.

"There's no reason why, at my age, I shouldn't still be good enough to win," said the cocky squire. "A few tournaments and some practice when I get home and I'll be ready to go. That's because Hagen and Jones and I learned the game differently from the youngsters coming up today. These fellows—Snead, Hogan, Mangrum—can all hit the ball a mile off the tee and straight, too."

"Still they're not shotmakers. They're not well-grounded in fundamentals. I don't believe they have the type of game that will serve them as well at 35 as it does at 25. Yet a good golf game should hold up that way—just as a man with a good physique can, with proper care, be just as healthy at 40 as at 30."

Gene contends that things have been made too easy for the present-day players, both pros and amateurs. The courses and equipment have been vastly improved, greens are watered the moment there's a chance of their getting even a little too fast, and there's a club designed for practically every shot you have to hit.

Hutson, Hinkle Will Speak at Cage Dinner

Don Hutson and Clarke Hinkle of the Green Bay Packers, now living in Neenah, will be speakers at the basketball dinner which Lawrence college men's club is arranging for the Lawrence varsity and freshman squads. The dinner is scheduled for 6:45 Thursday evening at Brokaw hall.

Dan Steinberg, Jr., will be the toastmaster and President Thomas N. Barrows of the college will extend the welcome. Approximately 75 alumni and townspeople are expected to attend the dinner and program. Letters will be awarded members of the two cage teams.

DIVER GOOD ON LINKS, TOO Los Angeles, Calif. —(AP)—Dorothy Poynton Hill, high diver, is no slouch on the golf course, either. Miss Hill, who has been playing golf only one year, recently carded an 84 on the tough Riviera course. She is a former high diving champion.

Those Dodger Home Runs At Clearwater are Phony

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK —(AP)—Hot stove league: Jack Doyle is back from Florida and working day and night on his major league prices. . . Don't be too impressed by those phony homers the Dodgers and their opponents are busting at Clearwater. . . Short fences and those gulf stream breezes are the answer. . . A Cub ivory hunter took one look at Phil Rizzuto and Jerry Friddy, Kansas City's crack keystone combination, and said they were worth a cool 100 G's to any big league outfit. . .

Rue de Sockeru Why did everybody rush to deny our item of last week that Davey Day and Sammy Angott will fight in Louisville derby eve? The wires confirmed it yesterday. . . A Chicago sports paper says Joe Louis is a 1-20 shot against Johnny Paycheck Friday night. . . Hard Rock Hard, Pa. Stribling's new heavy-weight came a cropper in his New York debut, but Pa is the same old Pa as when he used to come here years ago. . . Does all his traveling by car and shows his fighters at every whistle stop. . . It must be considerably more than boils with Billy Conn or why is it they're saying he'll be in drydock until mid-summer?

Today's True Story Harry Boyles, White Sox pitcher, not only hitch-hiked his way into baseball but landed right in the dough. . . Harry heard athletes were needed for a semi-pro loop in Oklahoma City. . . So he thumbed rides from his home at Granite City, Ill., and landed a job kneading dough and elbowing for a bakery team.

Selected Shorts If they're looking for a good mudder for derby insurance, how about Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Chafed? . . . Won three out of four in the mud on the coast. . . If and when the Yanks are sold it will not be to a syndicate—the other American league clubs would not approve such a sale. . . Knight's Heir, now quartered at Tropical park, is a dead ringer for old Seabiscuit, except that he hasn't won so much as a two bit piece. . . Mel Allen, from one of the local stations, will air the Yankee and Giant home games this summer, as exclusively predicted by every New York sports writer except one.

Observation Ward Signor Galento has it all figured out. . . He says, "one of these nights a bum is going to knock out Joe Louis. . . Paycheck is a bum but Louis is a bigger bum. . . But I don't think Paycheck will win." . . . Now you figure that out.

Washington Senators Are Most Improved Ball Team

BY GAYLE TALBOT

ORLANDO, Fla. —(AP)—Some consider the Washington Senators the most improved ball club in the American league, and Manager Bucky Harris thinks the 1940 model perhaps is the capital city's best in 10 years.

Not that Bucky, the handsome "boy manager" of the gay twenties, is harboring any illusions about a pennant or even has a first-division glint in his eyes. But the Senators' pilot might be pardoned if he took a certain pride in what he has accomplished with his limited assets. After playing the Senators the other day, Oscar Vitt of the Cleveland Indians summed the club up very well when he said: "They can be beat, but you've got to keep them off the bases."

That's what Harris has—one of the fastest clubs in baseball. It isn't a heavy-hitting outfit, and its pitching is only nominal. But it boasts a set of boys who can, and do, run the bases like stake horses. George Case, Buddy Lewis, Jim Pofahl, Gerald Walker and some of the others will win a lot of games with their legs in the coming season.

The Senators finished sixth last year, a notch lower than in 1938. In 1938 they had Zeke Bonura playing first base and knocking in 114 runs. The moral being plain, they are dickering with the Giants now and trying to get Zeke back—at their own price, naturally. The transfer likely will be made eventually providing Zeke agrees to play in Washington for a good deal less than the $15,000 he is demanding from the Giants.

Harris considers his outfield setup a good one, with Gerald Walker in left, Case in center and Lewis in right. Jim Bloodworth proved himself a capable second-sacker last season and Cecil Travis is going good in his new third-base position. Bucky is a little worried, though, about the throwing arm of his new Pofahl.

The club has a first-rate catcher in Rick Ferrell. The only reason it cannot be considered of first division calibre is its lack of high class starting pitchers. Dutch Leonard, the veteran knuckle-baller who won 20 games last season, is a good one, but after that Harris mostly must rely on his two southpaws, Ken Chase and Joe Kraskauskas.

New York Rangers Still in Running For Hockey Honors

By the Associated Press

By applying the theory that five good men are better than three any day, the New York rangers have squared their hockey playoff series with the Boston Bruins and again have a fair chance of getting into the final—probably against Toronto—for the Stanley cup, ancient and battered emblem of professional hockey world supremacy.

Last night's game was one the Rangers had to win to remain in the running in their best-of-seven series against the Bruins. That they did win it, 1 to 0, for their second victory and second shutout of the playoffs, is proof of the soundness of their forcing tactics.

At the same time Toronto's Maple Leafs, playing more orthodox hockey, turned back the Detroit Red Wings 2-1 in the first game of their best-of-three semi final series and thus became pronounced favorites to reach the Stanley cup finals.

Coleman Girls Win Cage Tourney Opener

St. Joseph, Mo. —(AP)—A sextet from Coleman, Wis., won its opening round game in the national AAU women's basketball tournament yesterday by romping off with a 27 to 12 decision over Jacksonville, Fla.

The Florida team, road weary after an all night ride as the climax to a 1,500 mile trip, offered little opposition to the Wisconsin cagers. Coleman took the lead at the shot, led at the end of the first eight minutes, 6 to 1, and gradually kept building up its advantage.

More Than 400,000 Helpless Women and Children Look to You for Help

Send in Your Contribution to the Finnish Relief Fund Today... We, Who Are Able, Must Help Finland Now!

After as brave a resistance as any little nation ever made to defend its country, Finland was forced to yield. The courageous defense has won the admiration of the whole civilized world. Now Finland needs help more than she ever did before. A million people—thousands of families—have not a roof over their heads. They do not know where their next meal is coming from. Many are sick and wounded, and suffering from cold and privation of every sort.

It is hard for us to realize in this land of abundance that people are starving, sick, and dying from lack of the bare necessities. Such a condition Finland is facing today. We must help her rebuild.

Give what you can. If it is only a little, give it anyway. Every cent contributed goes to help this cause. Nothing is kept out for administrative expense. The National Chairman for Finnish Relief is Herbert Hoover. The State Chairman is Walter Kohler—men whose unselfish altruism is unquestioned. Thurnblad Wins Fifth Game in Cue Tourney

Chicago —(AP)— Art Thurnblad of Kenosha, Wis., staged a strong finish to win his fifth game in the world's three cushion billiards title tournament yesterday from Allen Hall of Chicago, 50 to 46, in 60 innings. Thurnblad has lost nine matches.

Hall was out in front, 45 to 44, through 57 frames yesterday, when Thurnblad ran two points each in the next three innings to end the game. The Kenosha had a high run of seven.

To try to stop the lusty Chicago Cubs who have rung up two straight over the Bucs.

Tampa, Fla.—It is understood that Cincinnati Reds officials, who remain mum, have sent "feelers" to the Pirates in hopes of obtaining Paul Waner, and also that the Reds would part with a sizeable sum for the Yankees' Jake Powell.

Fort Myers, Fla.—The Cleveland Indians bid goodbye to their training camp site here today in a game with Syracuse, of the International league. The game will mark the first appearance of Mel Harder, providing a test for the problem arm that handicapped the Tribe in '39.

Laredo, Tex.—Manager Fred Haney regards Vernon Kennedy, Eldon Auker, Nate Andrews, Howard Mills and Emil Bidilli as the "big five" of the St. Louis Browns pitching staff—but he insists there's plenty of chance for other hurlers to work into the select circle.

Miami Beach, Fla.—Happy over Medwick's decision to sign his 1940 contract, the Cardinals will take on the Phillies today before heading for Havana for a series with the Cuban All-stars. The only consolation that Manager Ray Blades can get out of his team's exhibition record—five wins and 13 losses—is that three of the victories were over the Yankees.

Hollywood, Calif.—With Manager Jimmy Dykes' lecture on laziness still ringing in their ears, the White Sox were ready to show him that they weren't too lazy to grab a victory over the Philadelphia Athletics.

Los Angeles—Billy Nicholson, who made a fine debut with the Chicago Cubs last August, but who wound up in an October hitting slump, still can't find his batting eye—and he's a cinch to get a demotion on Hank Leiber's return to the lineup. Billy's spring average is near the .200 mark.

Movieland Its People and Products

By Jimmie Fidler

Washington, D. C.—Having nothing better to do, I spent an hour last night, trying to analyze the "personality profits" of Hollywood for 1939.

This was the question to be answered: "How many new, bonafide stars were developed during the year?"

And please note that by "stars" I mean box-office personalities of sufficient voltage to dependably lure crowds into the theaters.

It was easy to find a host of capable performers among the recent arrivals—and quite a few likeable personalities, too. Lana Turner, Laraine Day and Hedy Lamarr, MGM's three white hopes, all have considerable promise—but that's the best that can be said for them just now.

Linda Darnell, Mary Healy, Brenda Joyce and Nancy Kelly may scale the heights for 20th Century—but they haven't done it to date.

Jane Bryan, at Warners, has proven herself an excellent actress—but it takes more than acting to pack the movie houses. Jeffrey Lynn, Eddie Albert and John Garfield have already appeared in several pictures without displaying top-notchers who are falling by the wayside. What's wrong, Hollywood?

News that Binnie Barnes has—as usual—turned a handsome profit on a house is worth comment. For several years, that brainy lady has been buying properties at bargain prices and using artistic ingenuity, rather than expensive trimmings, to increase their value.

It's contrast that gives her real estate operations news value. Most Hollywood stars have lost their monogrammed shirts on their home-owning ventures.

Here's an add item for your list of strange coincidences: The other day, Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert played their first scene together for "Boom Town." The director described what he wanted—they were to drive a broken-down jallop down a lonely country road.

that socko appeal a great star must have. Ellen Drew, Mary Martin, William Holden and Robert Preston, at Paramount, are still far back in the ranks.

Robert Donat, new to most American audiences, won an Oscar—but Oscars are given for acting ability, not for drawing power. Laurence Olivier almost made the grade—almost, but not quite. Maureen O'Hara and Robert Stack, my two best-bets, are still best-bets—but neither name on a theater marquee can guarantee a crowded house.

No, add the figures any way you wish, and you'll arrive just where I did. In 1939, Hollywood developed exactly one bonafide star, and that one is Vivien Leigh. Only one real box-office personality as a replacement for the many old-time top-notchers who are falling by the wayside. What's wrong, Hollywood?

News that Binnie Barnes has—as usual—turned a handsome profit on a house is worth comment. For several years, that brainy lady has been buying properties at bargain prices and using artistic ingenuity, rather than expensive trimmings, to increase their value.

It's contrast that gives her real estate operations news value. Most Hollywood stars have lost their monogrammed shirts on their home-owning ventures.

Here's an add item for your list of strange coincidences: The other day, Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert played their first scene together for "Boom Town." The director described what he wanted—they were to drive a broken-down jallop down a lonely country road.

RADIO WAVES

Amateur radio work was carried on during the World War, but regular day-by-day broadcasting came after its close. There has been dispute as to whether Station WWJ of Detroit or KDKA of Pittsburgh or WHA of Madison, Wisconsin was first to put on a daily program. We may have notes on this point at some later time. In any case the years from 1920 to 1923 saw broadcasting stations come into being in many cities. Thousands of persons heard public speakers and musicians send words and music over the air.

A tennis court radio interview

At this point I wish to go into the phrase "over the air." The words are used quite commonly, but we must be careful to remember that the air does not carry radio waves. They go through it, but are not carried by it. What a difference it would make if radio waves moved like sound waves! A sound wave, moving with the help of the air, travels only about one-fifth of a mile per second. At this rate it would take one minute to go a distance of 12 miles. If there were an explosion loud enough to be heard from Ottawa, Canada, to Mexico City, the sound waves would travel 2,300 miles. To cover that distance at the rate of one-fifth of a mile per second, would take three hours and 11 minutes!

Think of what it would do to radio if we had to wait so long to receive the sounds!

As it is, the sound comes on the instant. We hear London or Paris or Berlin or Rome "speaking." We hear the voice the very second a word is spoken.

The secret is the change from sound waves to electric waves. Sound waves of the voice, or of a musical instrument, are changed into electric waves which can move with the speed of light.

The electric radio waves move through things which are in their way—houses, hills, mountains—and reach the radio sets in our homes. They are "caught" in a radio set, and are turned back into sound waves.

So we hear music and human voices from points which may be thousands of miles distant. It happens in the twinkling of an eye. It is a part of the "magic" of the modern world. Many programs are not as good as they should be, but in time the quality is likely to be better.

There was a time when all moving pictures were "silent." Today we have talking moving pictures. That is a big change. A change of equal importance is going on in radio. Our next story will be about early television.

TAKE A TIP FROM THE Persians

FORGET what a long, hard winter it's been. . . It's Spring and the Income Tax is paid.

Take a tip from a wise old Persian named Omar Khayyam—you were put into this world to have fun!

Go find a shady glade a million miles from care—and let the rest of the world drift by.

We'd like to add—go in a new Nash—and have fun getting there. You never felt a car so full of life. . . so quick. . . so quiet in action.

From that first excited "whoa" to the last astonished "Oh!" as you slip into the swiftness of the Fourth Speed Forward, this Nash is a new adventure in driving.

And nothing was so deceiving, beguiling as its cradle-gentle Arrow.

Flight pace. Every mile's so velvet-smooth you can't believe that ruts or bumps exist.

But let a lonesome truck buzz ahead or block the way—you just tap the Automatic Overtake and sweep by in a terrific burst of power.

Later on—just twist a dial and magically the air is cleared. . . warmed, if it's chilly, to the comfort you desire—by Nash's Weather Eye.

As on you go—further away from the noisy city. . . you'll wonder how they knew what you wanted—when they built this Nash.

Fortunately "looks" are deceiving—or a Nash would cost a million.

Every bit of Nash's engineering skill. . . and $45,000,000 in resources back this one make of car.

Nash gives you a double frame chassis. . . a 7-bearing crankshaft. . . the world's only Manifold-Sealed Engine—and big Convertible Bed.

It was a winner in the 1940 Gilmore-Yosemite Economy Run with 23.76 miles per gallon.

And big as it is, it's only a few dollars more than a smaller All-3 car.

Come on in. See Nash's new Engineering Exhibit and have the fun of driving a Nash.

Derive Some Support From Strength in Securities
Chicago—(P)—Moderating weather and some grain belt precipitation, with promise of more, helped to drive wheat prices lower again today.

Spain to Celebrate First Anniversary of Madrid's Fall to Franco's Forces

BY J. P. MCKNIGHT

Madrid (AP)—Spain, busily rebuilding on the ruins left by a devastating civil war, will celebrate tomorrow the first anniversary of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's triumphal entry into Madrid—an event that signaled the end of the ill-fated republic and the advent of a new order.

For the blue-shirted falangists it will be a proud day and the occasion for victory parades in virtually every city, town and hamlet throughout the land.

After a year of peace, there is no doubt that Falange Espanola is in the driver's seat, whatever its family troubles.

With one notable exception, all the outstanding military and political chiefs for whom the sun set the day Franco entered Madrid have left the country to avoid death or imprisonment.

Tall, white-haired Julian Besteiro, alone of the internationally famous figures in the republic, remained behind to face the music. The 70-year-old socialist now is a prisoner at Carmona in Seville province, sentenced to 30 years.

Most Leaders in France—Most of the republican leaders fled to France, though some sought refuge in England, a few in Soviet Russia and others in the Americas. Among those now believed to be in France are former Presidents

Manuel Azana and Niceto Alcala Zamora; Luis Companys, former president of the Catalan generalitat; Francisco Largo Caballero, extreme socialist leader; General Asensio Torrado, who directed republican military operations about Toledo; General Jose Sarabia, who was under secretary of war, and most of the men who held cabinet posts during the war period. The republican foreign minister, Julio Alvarez del Vayo, recently left France after an embroilment with the French courts. Of the republic's famous generals, Vicente Rojo is believed to be in Argentina and Jose Miaja is in Mexico. Other republican military leaders in exile include Division Chief Valentin Gonzalez, now in Russia; Corps Commander Enrique Lister, the communist leader, and Corps Commander Modesto, thought to be in France or Russia.

Go to Mexico—Colonel Segismundo, who fought the communist uprising in Madrid in the closing days of the war, fled to England. Former Premier Juan Negrin and former Defense Minister Indalecio Prieto, whose governments fled successively from Madrid, Valencia and Barcelona before the remnants of the republic's northern army were pushed across the French border, have been in Mexico.

The fiery woman communist leader, Dolores Ibarruri, who was known as "La Pasionaria," is said to be in Russia.

In 1936, just before the outbreak of the civil war, Spain had 29 political parties, nearly all their leaders, with the exception of a few conservatives, are now abroad. The men now running the government, except military career men like Generals Jose Varela and Juan Aguirre, were unknown in public life.

Among the party leaders of 1936 now living abroad are Jose Maria Gil Robles, chief of the Catholic conservative party, and former Premier Alejandro Lerroux, both of whom are in Portugal. The few pre-war political leaders back in Spain include Antonio Golcochea, head of the "renovacion espanola" (monarchist); Lammie de Clairac, who headed the traditionalists; Count Romadones, independent monarchist, and Francisco Camba, Catalan financier.

World consumption of nickel the first 10 months of 1939 totalled 206 million pounds, an increase over both 1938 and 1937.

Wives and sweethearts night will be observed by members of the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce with a dinner and dancing party at the Appleton hotel Monday evening.

Music will be furnished during the dinner and for dancing after the program. A motion picture, filmed in the north by R. L. Swanson and entitled, "That Boy of Mine," will be shown. Business meetings of the women's auxiliary and the Jaces will precede the dance.

The New Lamberton China An Ivory-Body China Dinnerware Made in America

The brilliancy of its glaze, which protects it from scratching and prevents crazing and checking, is a special quality of Lamberton.
